Threat In Letter Against Life Of Manitoba Premier

Note From "Workers' Centre"
Also Threatens Life of Mayor Webb of Winnipeg If He and Mr. Bracken Are Elected to Legislature and Communists Defeated

Winnipeg, June 9.—Police today were investigating the source of two anonymous letters threatening the lives of Premier John Bracken and Mayor Ralph H. Webb of Winnipeg, should they be successful in the Manitoba general election June 16.

The letters purport to be from "The Workers' Centre," here, and both warn against floating or any propaganda antipathetic to communist candidates. "Keep your hands off the Communist Party or it will be the worse for you," says one passage. "You know what happened to the Premiers of France and Japan. If you two are elected and the Communists defeated we will know the reason; so beware, watch your step."

IMPERIAL OIL PROFITS DOWN

Operating Margin Narrowed By Over $800,000 in 1931, Shareholders Are Told

Toronto, June 10.—Operating profits of Imperial Oil Limited declined more than $800,000 during the year ended December 31, 1931, according to the report issued at the annual meeting here today. The report had been delayed as a consequence of demands made on the company's accounting staff in connection with the commonwealth banking and commerce committee's investigation of gasoline prices throughout Canada.

Operating profits totaled, before deduction Dominion income tax, $10,615,890, as compared with $11,453,765 during the preceding year, the report stated. Earnings from investments, principally outside Canada, were $9,417,745, as compared with $9,105,539 in 1930. The aggregate of domestic and foreign earnings, after allowance for income tax, was equivalent to 68.16 cents per share, a total of $18,225,894, as compared with 72.81 cents per share, a total of $19,020,380 in the preceding year. Inventories depreciated during the year by $1,716,126. Operating expenses were charged with 5,921,632 on account of depreciation of plant and equipment.

BRITAIN RAISES PIG IRON DUTY
Tariff Rate Made 33 1-3 Per Cent on Advice of Committee

London, June 10.—An additional tariff duty of 33 1-3 per cent, ad valorem, was ordered by the treasury on pig iron today, following a recommendation of the import duties advisory committee, to aid the British iron and steel industry.

TWIGG FAILS TO EXPLAIN

Gives No Reason Why Bennett Telegram Was Withheld From Committee

Dominion Premier Was Misinformed on Facts, Says Victoria Member

Comment on the telegram from Premier Bennett rebuking Hon. J. W. Jones, B.C. Minister of Finance, for endeavoring to place blame for unsatisfactory relief administration in this province on the shoulders of the Dominion Government, was made by H. D. Twigg, M.P.P., in an address before the Women's Conservative Association yesterday evening.

Mr. Jones yesterday stated he refused to be dragged into a discussion which might create ill-feeling between the Dominion and B.C. governments, and offered no explanation why the important message was not placed before the legislative committee which investigated unemployment conditions in the province.

VITAL TO INQUIRY
Mr. Twigg, who was chairman of the committee and who has been under criticism for withholding the document, has not yet stated why it was not presented to the committee in accordance with his oft repeated promise that everything relevant to the inquiry would be made available.

The relevancy of the telegram, which had an important bearing on payments to B.C. municipalities, one of the outstanding phases of the inquiry, has not been disputed. Referring to the matter yesterday he remarked: "I am satisfied that this is merely the first of a series of letters and correspondence which you will see put forward as part of a deliberate campaign of half truths and misrepresentation, fostered by the Liberal opposition for political purposes."

It is quite true Mr. Bennett sent a critical message, but it is also true that he had been misinformed as to the facts. The wire was dated January 29 last. At that date, it has since been clearly shown, the Dominion owed $700,000 to the province on Dominion account for municipal undertakings, and that not one dollar of the sum was transmitted until June 5, following.

DRAFT PROGRAMME FOR CONFERENCE

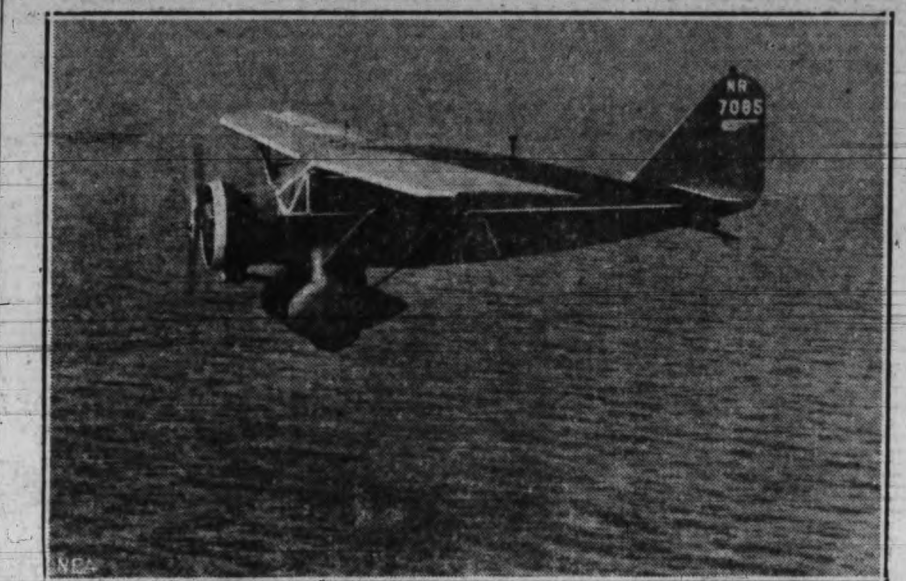

Ottawa, June 10.—The agenda for the Imperial Economic Conference here will shortly be put into final form. The situation at the moment is that the programme is still under consideration.

A draft was cabled to the different countries of the empire. From some of the countries replies have been received. From the others replies are being awaited. But, according to information learned to date, there will be additions to the agenda as at present drafted.

Form Committee to Represent Them in Handling of Great Enterprise

Montreal, June 10.—Bondholders representing $15,441,500 of the $30,000,000 8 per cent collateral trust sinking fund bonds of the Beauharnois Power Corporation today moved to appoint a committee to represent their interests in consideration of the future of the enterprise.

LAST PICTURE OF PLANE THAT DISAPPEARED ON ATLANTIC FLIGHT

MERCURY HITS RECORD HIGH
Temperature 86 at Gonzales To-day and Was Still Rising; 82 Yesterday

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the temperature recorded by the Dominion Meteorological Observatory on top of Grouse Mountain was 86, which was an increase of one and a half degrees over the 1 o'clock reading. A warm north wind was blowing and it appeared likely the day's maximum had not been reached. Yesterday the maximum temperature was 82.

Downtown on both days the thermometer probably surpassed both figures recorded at Gonzales. Without the breeze and with the sun's heat reflected by the buildings, most citizens seemed to consider to-day the hottest day and turned out dressed in cool summer outfits.

Children made for the wading pools and beaches after school to find relief from the heat.

Nude Figure Walks Street

Two Young Girls Report Seeing Man Without His Garments Parading Menzies Street Yesterday Evening; Police Find No Traces.

Someone staged a nude parade near the Parliament Buildings yesterday evening, or else there is a ghost hovering about the place.

As far as can be ascertained there are no grown-up Doughboys in Victoria and no persons who have yet embraced the tenets of their faith to the extent of disrobing in the eye of the public. The heat of the past two days has caused many citizens to shed garments, but none, so far as is known, has gone without anything but their slugs and their shoes.

But two young girls who live in James Bay were greatly disturbed yesterday evening and called for police assistance. As they walked along Menzies Street a man in the nude came from the shelter of the Parliament Buildings grounds and proceeded down Menzies Street.

Constable Atkinson, who was assigned to the case, returned to headquarters and reported that he had failed to find any trace of the ambulatory nudist.

MAKE PLANS FOR NELSON

City Delegation to U.B.C.M. Convention Arranging to Leave June 23

Mayor Gives Outline of Business That Will Be Discussed

Victoria's municipal delegation to the Union of B.C. Municipalities' convention at Nelson, with Mayor Leeming at its head, will leave here at the latest by Thursday, June 23, it was announced today.

The delegation will be composed of Mayor Leeming, Aldermen Worthington, Adam, Litchfield and Peden, and Frank Hunter, city clerk.

The resolutions committee, composed of Mayor Leeming and Aldermen Worthington, will meet at Nelson at 10 a.m. on June 23, and the convention will open Monday, June 27, and continue for two successive days.

The city delegation has been authorized to use its influence in an effort to bring the next convention to Victoria.

Questions that will be brought before the convention this morning will include relief, social service changes and other matters of municipal import.

Resolutions will be placed before the conference asking for classification of members into various groups representing cities, municipalities, districts and villages, it being the opinion that owing to the difference in requirements more unified thought and action might be obtained representing problems and requests before the provincial government.

MAID AT MORROW HOME ENDS LIFE

Associated Press
Hackensack, N.J., June 10.—Prosecutor George F. Losche announced today that Violet Sharp, a maid at the Morrow home at Englewood, N.J., who was questioned about the abduction of the Lindbergh baby, had committed suicide by poisoning.

The prosecutor said the body of the maid had been found by the butler in a pantry on the first floor and that a bottle of poison had been found in her room on the second floor.

She had been with the Morrow family for about two years.

TWO YEARS FOR LE MARQUAND

Court of Appeal Unanimously Imposes Penitentiary Term For Blackmail

J. M. A. LeMarquand, convicted blackmailer, was arrested at noon today by Provincial Police, on an order from the British Columbia Court of Appeal, and must serve a sentence of two years in the penitentiary. This morning Chief Justice Macdonald announced that the court was unanimous as to the sentence.

LeMarquand was convicted at the spring Assizes by a jury and was released by Chief Justice Morrison, no recognizance being given by the prisoner and as well as for periods in other years.

His Lordship reviewed the circumstances and read extracts of the various letters written by LeMarquand and the replies from Mr. Roberts. The capture, trial and conviction were recalled, the pre-sentence statement made by the prisoner to Chief Justice Morrison being described as "virtually a confession that the whole thing was a fake story."

The chief justice said the trial judge allowed the prisoner out as he said, on recognizance, but he did not give a suspended sentence or take any recognizance from the prisoner. I therefore sentence him to serve two years in the penitentiary," said the chief justice.

Hundreds Fighting Great Forest Fires

No Indication of Rain to Cheer Crews Bailing Outbreaks North of Lake Superior

Canadian Press
Port Arthur, Ont., June 10.—Buildings of the Consolidated Chromium Company were in the path of forest fires which were laying waste timber stands in the Oboonga Lake district today, and hundreds of men were struggling in an effort to check or divert the blaze. It was reported that the general situation in this region was described as "worse, if anything," in reports to the forestry department at noon.

No outbreaks had been reported, but fires at Oboonga Lake, northwest of Nipigon, and at Whitefish Lake, near Port Colborne, which were causing chief concern, were spreading slowly. There were no signs of rain. About 150 men had been sent to Oboonga Lake, and 100 were working at Whitefish, and reinforcements were being sent to both places as rapidly as they could be assembled.

Former U.S. Open Champion Clips Two Strokes From Record to Win Coveted Crown; Macdonald Smith, U.S., Finishes in Second Place With 72-Hole Score of 288

ARTHUR HAVERS SETS NEW COURSE RECORD

Sandwich, Eng., June 10.—Gene Sarazen, the long-driving Italian professional from New York, won the British open golf championship today with the record-breaking score of 283.

The 1922 United States open champion scored his 283, two strokes under Bobby Jones, winning total of 1927, early in the afternoon and watched those who had a chance to catch him, fade away under the pressure of having to shoot sub-par golf.

Sarazen has been well up in the British open field for several years, finishing second to Walter Hagen in 1928 at the neighboring Royal St. George's course for his best effort up to today.

Arthur Havers, who in 1923 won the title and was the only Briton to capture it in the last twelve successive years, was the chief threat to Sarazen today. Havers broke the course record with a wonderful 68, but started the final round four strokes behind the New Yorker. Havers made the turn in 37, six strokes behind, and started home 4-4-4-6, leaving him five holes on which he had to get sixteen to tie Sarazen.

The brilliant English pro, however, finished with a 78, one stroke of 289, six strokes behind the American.

Havers' card:
Out 3 4 3 3 4 4 4 37
In 4 4 5 3 3 5 5 39—78

MAC SMITH SECOND
This left Macdonald Smith, Scottish-American pro, with a final round total of 288. Smith has always been right up in the running in years of striving for the title.

Tommy Armour, defending champion, faded badly on the final round and finished with an 81 for a total of 300.

The three who were closest to the pacemakers, at the end of the third round, Percy Alliss, Percy Alliss and Charles Whitcombe, Percy Alliss and W. H. Davies. Whitcombe finished with 282, as did Alliss, and Davies was a stroke behind.

The final finish was, U.S. 283—Gene Sarazen, U.S. 288—Macdonald Smith, U.S. 289—Arthur Havers, Great Britain. 292—Percy Alliss and Charles Whitcombe, Great Britain. 293—W. H. Davies and Arthur Lucy, Great Britain.

294—Fred Robson, Great Britain. 295—Henry Cotton, Abe Mitchell, Archie Compston, Great Britain.

PRICE ATTENDS
The Prince of Wales joined the galleries today and arrived just in time to see Havers finishing his third round with a new record of 68.

Sarazen had pretty well the largest gallery as he went around, starting the fourth round in the lead by four strokes over Havers. Sarazen got his par four on the first and despite a flubbed mashie shot to the second green, took birdie 4 holes in a row and won the third green with his tee shot and just missed a birdie, holing out for a par 3.

Sarazen was one over par on the fifth after missing his tee shot and making an uncertain approach. He got a par 4 on the sixth.

The seventh cost Sarazen five, one over par, when he drove with a brassie, but at the eighth he sank an eight-yard putt for an eagle 3 and finished the outward trip with a four for 35.

COSTLY HOLE
Sarazen pulled his shot at the tenth, found the rough and his second went in a bunker, the hole costing him five strokes, one over par. He again pulled his tee shot at the eleventh, but recovered for a par four.

Through the sixteenth Sarazen was one over even four after holing a fifteen-foot putt for a birdie 2 at the fourteenth, where the Prince of Wales joined the gallery. On the last hole (Turn to Page 6, Col. 8)

International Leaders Instal Rotary Heads

President George McGregor and Other Officials Take Posts For Year

Sydney Pascall, International Chief, Outlines Rotary Service Ideals

International officers and Rotarians of Victoria, along with their ladies, honored George McGregor, recently elected president of the local club, and his new officers at the annual installation ceremony with a dinner and dance at the Empress Hotel yesterday evening. An inspiring address on the ideals of Rotary by Sydney Pascall, London, international president, a splendid report on the year's activities read by T. J. Goodlake, secretary, and a valedictory by J. Percy Watson, retiring president, were heard.

In addition to the Victoria members club at his installation, but the whole-hearted support of the other executives and members had assisted him splendidly in the activities of the year.

Owing to the depressed condition of affairs during the year, nothing spectacular had been attempted but the spirit of Rotary had been observed, he said. Mr. Watson paid tribute particularly to the membership, attendance and programme committees.

The retiring president referred to the club's efforts to allow the members to follow the ideals of Rotary in their own ways. Individuals were doing splendid work in their own spheres without bringing their activities to the notice of the club. In this manner many had achieved fine objectives in charity, boys' work and general humanitarian services.

Personally he expressed his thanks for the work done by T. J. "Cappy" Goodlake, the club's untiring secretary.

Before calling upon Mr. Pascall to take over the gavel, he spoke of the international president's achievements. As he closed his remarks a spotlight was thrown upon a beautiful tableau of the globe guarded by two figures with flags above it, representing the international aspect of Rotary. A dove of peace with an olive branch hovered above the revolving globe of the world.

President Sydney Pascall, after sounding a new gong presented to the club by Rotarian Tom Walker and his son, spoke of his previous visit to British Columbia, seventeen years ago. The splendid climate had appealed to him immediately, he said. He thanked Victoria for the contribution of Mr. Beatty to the international board.

Mr. Pascall referred to the work of Rotary. Service was the backbone of the club's ideals. Services were chiefly divided into four classes. First he spoke of the international aspect of the club's service. In Europe this phase was exceptionally noticeable. He referred to the Franco-German Rotary enterprise by means of which a better understanding was being reached. In the friendly interchange of ideas of a controversial nature great progress was being made in the movement for peace there, he said.

Turning to club service, he referred to the community service being rendered by the Free Rotary. Assistance was of cardinal importance in the building up of the team work necessary in this sphere.

Public service he illustrated by the success of different political parties brought together through the bonds of Rotary fellowship shared by various Spanish leaders of the new republic.

The work of the Rotary Club of Napier, New Zealand, during the devastating earthquake and when reconstruction of the town was started, also illustrated the public service rendered by the club. It had been recognized by the governor of that land, the speaker said.

Vocational service he characterized as the promotion of fine business ethics among the members. It stood for the maintenance of honor and for the Rotary doctrine of service above self. The latter was a practical thing in life. While Rotary might have its head in the clouds of idealism, it kept its feet on the ground in a material effort to improve service above self.

Throughout his remarks he interspersed humorous anecdotes to illustrate his points.

He then conferred the reins of leadership upon President George McGregor.

Mr. McGregor expressed his appreciation of the honor conferred upon him by his election to the office of president.

In installing Mr. Watson as immediate past president, Mr. Pascall expressed the hope he would be as fine a colleague to the new president as international Past President Almon Roth had been to him.

Continuing in humorous vein he installed the vice-presidents, C. H. French and W. P. Pinfold; the treasurer, T. P. McConnell; the sergeant-at-arms, John V. Johnson, and three directors, C. F. Barker, R. H. Brencley and Walter Lusey.

Closing, he wished them every success in the coming year.

The newly-installed president then presented Mr. Watson with the club's past president's button, paying further tribute to his efficient service.

To Mrs. Watson he gave a beautiful basket of flowers with an expression of the club's appreciation for her assistance during the year.

The meeting was brought to a close with a community song led by R. R. Webb.

Chester Perry of Chicago moved a vote of thanks to the Victoria club for its entertainment. G. Fred Birk, Australia, seconded the motion with further commendation of the local club and Rotary in Canada.

Rotarian Percy Scurrell voiced a plea for wholehearted support of the Seattle international convention, urging as many Victorians to attend as possible. He also announced the entertainment of the ladies of Rotary during their stay here.

The evening was brought to a close with a dance.

Attendance records were well up, being above those of last year.

The secretary outlined the community service of the club, touching upon its social functions, pageant, band concert, the lecture of Sir Hubert Wilkins, the Seattle Symphony orchestra concert and many other events.

Help Society, Social Service League, Children's Aid, Salvation Army, B.C. Protestant Orphanage, Women's Workroom, Queen Alexandra Solarium and the Unemployed Men's Rest Room. Other community endeavors included the seed growing contest and boys' work committee activities.

Tribute was paid to the Rotary orchestra and to the sportsmen of the club who upheld its honors in the softball lists.

Adoption of the report was moved by R. W. Mayhew, who spoke of the splendid work of the directors, congratulating Mr. Watson on the success of his year in office.

It had been with a great deal of satisfaction the directors received the approval of the report, Mr. Watson said. He paid a sincere compliment to the work and co-operation of the members of the board and the club. He had experienced some misgivings in his own ability as a leader of the

NOTED HEBREW CANTOR HERE

Cantor Abraham Benjamin Franklin, descendant of the Palasho Jews of Abyssinia, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon and is staying at the Ritz Hotel. He has been touring the North American continent, addressing large Hebrew congregations.

Cantor Franklin will this week celebrate with the Hebrews of Victoria, the Feast of the Pentecost. On Sunday evening he will chant the evening service at the Jewish Synagogue on Blanshard Street.

He will also speak of the Palasho Jews of Ethiopia and will sing songs of Zion in Yiddish. Cantor Franklin is an Ethiopian of dusky hue.

When Rev. J. E. Adams questioned this statement, Dr. Bland answered: "Yes, question me. Prove me a liar, a slanderer if you will, but prove it. And if you cannot prove it, believe what I say that the great sin of the Christian church in the United States and Canada to-day is our prejudice and our expediency that destroys our courage."

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Scott are guests in the city from Cumberland and are staying at the Strathcona Hotel.

CHURCH RELIEF WORK EXTOLLED

Does More Good Than 25 Years' Preaching, United Church Conference Told

Canadian Press
Toronto, June 10.—Relief work the churches accomplished in western Canada was a demonstration of practical Christianity, which had done more to break down barriers of race and creed than twenty-five years' preaching, Rev. Colin G. Young, of the United Church of Canada, told the Toronto conference of the church yesterday.

"Perhaps out of these efforts we will draw a home mission council that will draw all Protestant churches together," said Mr. Young.

CONTRASTS ARISES
In the midst of a discussion on sermons, Rev. Salem G. Bland provoked interruption when he declared, "I fear we have less right to call ourselves Christians than any of our leaders in the past. While we do not want to be narrow-minded in the sense that Knox, Wesley and Luther were in their age, we are great, and we are not great. We lack courage. We fear public criticism. We fear we may prove ourselves fools, for until we speak we know not whether we will be regarded as heroes or fools."

When Rev. J. E. Adams questioned this statement, Dr. Bland answered: "Yes, question me. Prove me a liar, a slanderer if you will, but prove it. And if you cannot prove it, believe what I say that the great sin of the Christian church in the United States and Canada to-day is our prejudice and our expediency that destroys our courage."

Before calling upon Mr. Goodlake to present the annual report, Mr. Watson spoke of the annual meeting a year before. Although the report might not meet the high standard of some of the biggest clubs, he assured the gathering the official had worked conscientiously for the good of the club throughout the year.

Secretary Goodlake then presented the report.

SECRETARY'S REPORT
It summarized the luncheons held during the year and referred to inter-city events in which Victoria had entertained or been entertained by Port Angeles, Sequim, Duncan, Nanaimo and Vancouver Rotary clubs.

It referred to the city's representation at the Victoria International convention by W. P. Pinfold.

A large number of the meetings during the year had been addressed by club members themselves, developed in the Spokane Club. The secretary then read a list of the speakers who had been his guests.

Membership was down from 106 to 102. Among those lost to the Victoria branch during the year was the late Rotarian Jimmy Hunter, a charter member.

Attendance records were well up, being above those of last year.

The secretary outlined the community service of the club, touching upon its social functions, pageant, band concert, the lecture of Sir Hubert Wilkins, the Seattle Symphony orchestra concert and many other events.

Help Society, Social Service League, Children's Aid, Salvation Army, B.C. Protestant Orphanage, Women's Workroom, Queen Alexandra Solarium and the Unemployed Men's Rest Room. Other community endeavors included the seed growing contest and boys' work committee activities.

It had been with a great deal of satisfaction the directors received the approval of the report, Mr. Watson said. He paid a sincere compliment to the work and co-operation of the members of the board and the club. He had experienced some misgivings in his own ability as a leader of the

NO DIVORCEES TO BE MARRIED

Firm Stand Taken By Clergy in Diocese of Rupert's Land

Winnipeg, June 10.—The synod of the Anglican Diocese of Rupert's Land yesterday passed a resolution confirming the stand taken by Archbishop I. O. Stringer in his charge at the opening of synod on Wednesday, and assured him that canons forbidding the marriage of couples, either one of whom has been divorced, would be strictly adhered to by the clergy of the diocese.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Scott are guests in the city from Cumberland and are staying at the Strathcona Hotel.

RELIEF WORK IS DISCUSSED

Lack of Administration in Dispensing of Relief Scored By Women Social Workers

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, June 10.—Social workers who have been in convention here this week wound up one series of sessions yesterday evening and prepared for a second. A banquet marked the end of the third Canadian Conference of Social Workers. The first session of the will be held to-morrow morning.

Miss Laura Holland, Vancouver, newly-elected president of the conference, said social work needs workers who are good administrators. This was especially true of public relief administration.

"A person cannot step from another profession or from inexperience into administration of relief and make a success of it," she said.

Lack of adequate administration in the dispensing of relief was deplored by Mrs. G. Cameron Parker of the Canadian Council on Child and Family Welfare, Ottawa, during the course of an address. The speaker said it was probably either the keeping up of armaments or relief would have to suffer in the end.

"I think our relief measures are in danger of being discredited, if we do not succeed in getting them better administered," said Mrs. Parker.

"In British Columbia," she continued, "about $57,000 is being spent on mothers' allowances with no supervisor yet appointed."

Winnipeg, June 10.—Laura Holland, Vancouver, was elected president of the Canadian Conference on Social Work at the business meeting of the biennial conference, holding its closing sessions here yesterday. The conference will meet in Vancouver in 1934, but will spend at least a day at Victoria.

WATER PIPES ARE REPAIRED

Calgary System, Damaged By Floods, Being Brought Back to Normal

Calgary, June 10.—Calgary's water supply, impaired by recent floods, today was nearing normal condition. A strong flow was being maintained in the high level sections of Mount Royal, South Calgary, Killarney and Glenora as the result of temporary repairs to the filtration plants pipes, but trouble was still being met in repairing the gravity line feeding the 2,000,000-gallon reservoir which was broken by floods. Repairs to it are expected to be effected during the week. Other sections of the city were still being served by water pumped from the Bow River to-day. Delivery of water in barrels and vats to schools in the high level section was being maintained, although the water wagon service to most residences had been terminated.

Scott, Vernon, grand herald; A. Watson, Vancouver, grand chaplain. A grand guardsman will be appointed later.

MEN TORTURED IN PALESTINE

Associated Press
Cairo, Egypt, June 10.—A story recalling old-time trials by ordeal has come out of Beit Rima, Palestine, according to the Egyptian press. Owners of a plantation there were enraged by thefts of valuable fruit. They raided two neighboring village and rounded up about fifty men. These they forced to lick a red hot iron, and the theory that the innocent would not suffer, but the guilty would be burned. The torturers were arrested.

Japanese Troops Claim Victory

Canadian Press
Tokio, June 10.—Maj.-Gen. Hideo Hiramatsu, with his 27th Brigade of the 14th Japanese Army Division, claimed to-day to have smashed the Chinese insurgent forces under Gen. Mah Chanshan in northern Manchuria, according to a dispatch to the Rengo News Agency from Hallau.

TARIFF MAKES MANY JOBLESS

Bennett Government's Course Scored By Attorney-General of Manitoba

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, June 10.—The chief cause of unemployment in Canada is "the tariff," declared Hon. W. J. Major, Attorney-General, in an election campaign speech here yesterday evening. "Canada first" does not feed mouth," said the Attorney-General. "Trade is what we want. Trade is what the people are going to ask for when they vote on June 16, and that is what they are going to get."

Mr. Major quoted figures to show the extreme contraction of national trade since the Conservative government came into power at Ottawa. "It is the restriction of that trade that has been the cause of unemployment," he said. "What we need is restoration of trade with European countries."

"Manitoba needs a business government," the Attorney-General said, "and the only way to get it is to kick politics out." He said Manitoba should forget politics and return to power a coalition government.

In this campaign Premier Bracken is leading a union of Liberals and Progressives.

MAN IS FOUND INSANE BY JURY

Canadian Press
New Westminster, June 10.—That K. Tsukamoto, Japanese mill worker of Auckland Street, charged with having murdered his wife June 1, was unfit to stand trial because of insanity was the verdict rendered by a jury in the assize court here yesterday.

On the order of Mr. Justice A. I. Fisher, the Japanese will be held in custody pending an order-in-council from Victoria, which will commit Tsukamoto to the Esmondale Mental Hospital. Adam Smith Johnston, counsel for the accused, asked his client be removed to Esmondale as quickly as possible, as facilities were not available at Oakalla prison to handle the Japanese.

Tsukamoto's case marked a record for speedy justice and it also marked the final case to be considered by the last grand jury in British Columbia. Shortly afterward the grand jury presented its report on Oakalla prison and the Boys' Industrial School to Mr. Justice Fisher and was finally discharged.

Tsukamoto, after his arrest by city police, appeared for preliminary hearing before Magistrate H. L. Edmonds in city police court Wednesday morning. The grand jury was handed the indictment yesterday morning and late yesterday afternoon a petit jury decided the accused was unfit to be tried because of insanity.

BRISTOL POLICE DISPERSE CROWD

Canadian Press
London, June 10.—Demonstrations were staged by unemployed in two British cities yesterday and in one police were forced to charge 2,000 persons with drawn batons before they succeeded in restoring order.

At Bristol a near riot occurred after a mass meeting. Police sought to herd the crowd down one of the main shopping streets where several persons had been injured by stones thrown through shop windows. Several were reported to have been hurt in the subsequent charge by police.

In Glasgow, Scotland, exciting scenes were witnessed when a procession of 2,500 women, headed by women councillors of the city, got mixed up with another parade of 3,000 men.

The women went to the municipal buildings, where their deputies urged abolition of the "means" test for unemployment insurance. They had been heard by the city council, and were leaving the building when they became mixed up with the parade of men. There was considerable confusion, but police finally straightened things out without injury to anyone.

TRADE TREATY IS TO BE EXTENDED

Canadian Press
Ottawa, June 10.—It is stated to be probable that the trade treaty between Canada and France, which was to expire June 16, will be extended until the end of the year after certain modifications. The nature of the changes is uncertain, but an official announcement on the extension of the treaty is expected within the next few days.

Some months ago official notification was given to France of the intention to cancel the treaty in accordance with its provisions. It was intimated at the time that a new trade agreement would eventually be made between the two countries.

TWO MINERS LOSE THEIR LIVES

Kimberley, B.C., June 10.—George Brown and John Dixon, miners employed by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company in the Sullivan Mine here, were instantly killed yesterday while working in a stoper of the mine. They were employed in barring down a bench and brought down by one that they misjudged, which swept them into the chute. They were dead when reached by fellow workers.

An inquest was held yesterday afternoon and the coroner's jury returned a verdict that the men had met death through an unavoidable accident. The jury attached no blame to anyone.

Both the victims were married men. Brown is survived by a widow and child in Roseland, while Dixon is survived by a widow and two children in Kimberley.

Stolen Books Are Sold at Auction

New York, June 10.—More than 200 dusty books, sold carelessly at public auction for $21, were discovered yesterday to be worth about $10,000. Simultaneously they were identified as loot stolen from public libraries here and in surrounding cities and towns.

A GILDED SONGSTER

"JIMMY" WALKER WAS A BROADWAY song-writer. He wrote "Will You Love Me in December as You Do in May" and other popular hits and made a lot of money out of them. He was also a smart dresser and had an exceptional gift of smart "wise-cracking." The combination of these with a shrewdness to serve his ambition, made his advance in New York politics rapid when he took up with Tammany affairs. He has been twice elected mayor of New York City by large majorities. Everybody seemed to be for "Our Jimmy."

This week his removal from office was recommended to Governor Franklin Roosevelt of New York State. This recommendation was made by Judge Seabury after a highly sensational public inquiry into the Mayor's activities in office and his general affairs. It appeared the sprightly "Jimmy" as mayor had made a lot more money than he made as "Jimmy" the song writer and White Way wit.

In the inquiry the Mayor had to admit he had received $246,000 from Paul Block, the publisher of a chain of eastern newspapers and interested in various enterprises having contacts coming under the city. The money came out of a joint speculative account towards which the Mayor had not put up a dollar. Mr. Block was just kind-hearted, the inquiry committee was asked to believe, and gave the Mayor a chance to make money because his heart went out to the capable young politician. When "Jimmy" received the money he took no chances; he withdrew the large sum in cash and deposited it in his safe at home.

It also came out that the Mayor had received $26,000 from J. A. Sisto, taxicab financier and concessionaire. This also came as part of profits in a stock deal in which His Worship had invested nothing. The receipt of two other sums of $10,000 as a concrete by-product of similar kindnesses, was admitted.

The almost regal trip of the Mayor through Europe in 1927 when he won the hearts of the dignitaries of ancient realms by his geniality and established his reputation as a bon vivant, is well remembered. It developed at the inquiry that the $10,000 letter of credit on which the Mayor started but to win the plaudits of the Europeans was handed to him by the promoter of the Equitable Coach Company. This was on the day before the Mayor signed the franchise for the operation of the company's cars in the passenger-carrying business on the streets of New York. As might be expected, the $10,000 did not last the traveling "Jimmy" very long, and he soon had run up an overdraft of $3,000. Steps forward then he kindly promoter of the Equitable, who big-heartedly wipes out this overdraft.

Altogether Judge Seabury produced evidence to show that in five and one-half years a total of $964,000, made up of similar payments, had passed into the hands of one Sherwood. His Worship's $3,000-a-year private bookkeeper, Sherwood has mysteriously disappeared since the inquiry got under way.

As Mayor, New York's "Our Jimmy" appears about to have an answer in the negative to the question of his song-writing days. There is good reason for suspecting that he will not be so beloved in December as he was in May.

MUST GET TOGETHER

IN HIS INTERESTING ADDRESS TO THE Canadian Club yesterday Mr. John Nelson emphasized the contribution that is being made by Rotary to international good-will. He described how representatives of this great organization from all over the world meet in an atmosphere of mutual trust and friendship based upon understanding of one another and the common pursuit of a beneficial ideal. In that atmosphere international rivalries, suspicion and hatreds disappear like a noxious growth before the sunlight.

A similar contribution to world fellowship is being made by each of the other international service organizations. If the peoples of the world in general could be organized in the same way in the pursuit of some worthy object, if they could meet one another in frequent conferences, there is not the slightest doubt that their relations would be as harmonious as those which characterize the international service clubs. But, seriously enough, while a conference of the Rotary world organization will deal with many important problems affecting the public welfare efficiently, promptly and in the most agreeable manner regardless of the diversified views, languages and customs of the representatives, conferences of governments who officially represent the same peoples that are unofficially represented by service clubs are invariably marked by distrust and irreconcilable conflict.

If there is one thing certain in this topsy-turvy world it is that there can be no permanent improvement in its condition and outlook unless nations get together for the attainment of worthy purposes in something of the same spirit in which international conferences of service organizations are held. The world's troubles are of the world's own making, and the world must unmake them. They have not arisen by accident, but have sprung from the violation of certain cardinal, fundamental principles or virtues by the people themselves and inevitably by the governments they have chosen to administer their affairs.

If people prefer narrow, selfish nationalism to broad, tolerant internationalism they should be prepared to abide by the consequences. If they are satisfied with the erection of barriers to international trade as the expression of their attitude they have no right to complain when the boomerang of hard times recoils upon their head. Our neighbors on the south are the original apostles of this economic nationalism, and they have not yet dawned upon many of them that no matter what drastic measures their government may devise to improve conditions, the only effective remedy is the one they are most reluctant to adopt, and that is the establishment of closer trade relations with the rest of the world.

Most of the other nations have now adopted economic exclusion, while in Europe many of them are divided also by armed frontiers. As long as these elements of discord prevail there can be no real recovery from the malady from which the world is suffering. The tragedy of the situation is that a large part of society everywhere is too stupid to realize this tremendous, vital fact.

PROHIBITION GOING?

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER TURNED against prohibition at the first of the week, announcing his change of conviction in a remarkable letter to a leader of the movement to bring about repeal, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University. Yesterday Dr. John R. Mott, president of the World Y.M.C.A. Alliance and for years an international leader in the foreign missions movement, announced he was following Mr. Rockefeller out of the prohibition camp. Other church and welfare leaders, who have been "dry" are falling in line to make it something like a stampede to the wet side of the fence.

In associating themselves with President Butler in the prohibition repeal movement, the deserting "drys" who follow Mr. Rockefeller are now lined up in this cause with a group of the nation's industrial and business leaders. Included in their number are the Duponts, most powerful of industrial families in the country, controlling besides the wide-spread chemical industries, such super-organizations as General Motors and United-States Rubber.

None of this group is interested in doing away with prohibition because of any direct profit that might accrue to themselves. They adjudge prohibition as a social failure. With two and three speakies sprouting where one saloon grew before, and bootleggers as ubiquitous as leaves, they view its results worse than the evil the noble experiment set out to cure.

As their immediate objective, the repealists seek to bring about the inclusion of a prohibition resubmission plank in the platforms of the Republican and Democratic parties. By thus sterilizing it as a major factor in the strategy of party against party, prohibition would be removed from the realm of politics.

Removed from the field of party strategy, what are prohibition's chances of lasting? If resubmission is agreed to nationally, the question of repealing the Eighteenth Amendment will go back to the individual states. More than two-thirds of them must favor repeal before it can become effective federally. For some time the most populous states of the Union have been definitely wet. Their number is being steadily added to. Expressions of individual opinion through the various straw ballots, show a mounting sentiment against the dry law. The change of heart of Mr. Rockefeller, with the financial prestige and moral influence he carries, may be enough to tip the scales far enough definitely to give the wet forces command.

If the sentiment of the people of the United States on prohibition were to be tested by a plebiscite, how would they vote? We may be allowed to hazard the guess that they would vote in just about the same way as the people of Canada did when they were called to settle their prohibition issue.

MODERN YOUTH

TWO SEVENTEEN-YEAR-OLD BOYS, armed with pistols entered a Seattle drug store and held up the proprietor, William Morel, aged twenty-six. If the story ended there it would furnish one more text for the usual sermonizing on the depravity of modern youth.

But something else happened. There was a crashing of glassware, blood flew from cuts, and then the thud and smack of bare fists. It was a badly pummelled and cowed pair of former dare-devils that were a short time later turned over, pistols and all, to the citizen's posse and police by Young Morel. He also is modern youth.

Another economist says the way to end the business slump is to put everybody to work. Why did not somebody think up that bright idea before?

Manitoba is determined not to take a back seat to British Columbia. As for ogopogoes, says The Winnipeg Tribune, "just wait till the navigation starts in earnest on Hudson Bay."

"Soon the strawberry's ruddy glow will give a setback to the drab depression." The Globe of Toronto editorially asseverates. Out here getting a ruddy glow on usually means the beginning of a depression—next morning.

With insurance claims of $5,000,000 involved, Shanghai courts are asked to decide whether the Japanese invasion was war or merely an "incident." There would be no doubt about what those who got messed up there would call it.

The Outlook, one of the oldest and most intelligent weeklies, has failed, being declared bankrupt. Where, asks The Ottawa Journal, were those countless persons who are forever telling newspapermen that their newspapers contain too much that is light and frothy, that what the people crave for are serious things, politics, literature, economics? Well The Outlook served those needs. Why did they not support it?

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

UNCLE SAM'S TRADE-SLIPPING
The New York World-Telegram

Since Great Britain is our largest customer, the wall she is now raising against our trade will injure American business and labor, either directly or indirectly. It is an especially serious development coming on top of similar retaliation by Canada, who was our largest customer until the tariff war.

President Hoover and the Congress were warned of this disastrous result in 1930, when they enacted the Hawley-Smoot law over the protest of 1,100 economists, a majority of the press, and leading bankers and industrialists.

Little was expected of the Republican Old Guards. But the country had a right to expect the Democrats, after all of their oral ranting against the law to try to repeal it.

The country is watching the Democrats on the tariff.

A THOUGHT

For they have sown the wind, and they shall reap the whirlwind.—Hosea viii 7.
Though punishment be slow, still it comes.—George Herbert.

Loose Ends

A mark to shoot at—another ripe idea, though quite dumb—and a telegram from Ottawa which means more than it says.

By H. B. W.

I HAVE JUST been reading an article by a gentleman who has been in Russia observing the attitude of Russian youth towards things in general. His account of his observations is remarkable. Everywhere in the large cities he found the young people clamoring for knowledge, crowding into schools and universities, filled with a fierce enthusiasm for the Five Year Plan and a bitter contempt for the capitalism of the western world. They are ready to herd together in small rooms, to eat out an existence on the twenty-seven rubles a month which the government gives them, to work all day and half the night so that they may learn, may acquire knowledge on every imaginable subject, but particularly on economics.

THIS, I SAY, is remarkable compared with the attitude of the average boy and girl on this continent. Where facilities for schooling of every kind are open to all who want to use them, they are taken as a matter of course. And there is no enthusiasm for our way of life as there is for Communism. There is no particular opposition to it, no spirit of revolution, just a complete indifference. Our children are not rejecting in capitalism as a chance for something better, they are rejecting it as a personal liberty, an assurance of comfort. They are not rallying together to improve the system, as the Russian children are. They are not uniting behind a Five Year Plan of capitalism as the children over there unite behind a Five Year Plan of Communism. They are not being made to feel that they are part of a great experiment and a great adventure, that their individual effort counts for anything in the world. That, it seems to me, is the great danger to our system; not revolution, but indifference. Nobody seems to be doing anything about things. If we had a Five Year Plan, or any kind of plan to work for, if we could make our children feel that the success of something depended on them, if we could set up a definite mark to shoot at, if we could only feel that we were seeking certain objectives and approaching them, however slowly, then our youth might hear any wild revolutionary talk in the western world. And we should be a lot happier in the process, too. What is gnawing at the vitals of our civilization these days is not so much poverty as the sense of drift and futility, which even the stoutest nature cannot survive forever.

ANOTHER RIPE idea has been added to the controversy, which I mentioned the other day, over the question whether the movies should talk. A thoughtful gentleman writes in The Christian Science Monitor that the movies shouldn't talk but should use sound, "not the literal noises made by the actors but the noises that they think," a kind of spiritualized, unearthly language without words. I should have supposed that what the actors usually said was bad enough, but why we should be afflicted with their private thoughts in the form of music, I cannot imagine. Our own thoughts are likely to be the most unattractive enough without adding to them the private notions of such gentry as one sees on the screen. And anyway, what kind of music could express their innermost mental processes, if any? What sounds, in music, are sensuous enough to convey Garbo's undulations and ogling, and the spirit which she must accompany the outward undulations and ogling of her body? What instrument can create that disreputable quality which, for the sake of convenience and respectability, is called "It"? No, the voices of the screen are often hard to bear, but spare us, if possible, the music of their thoughts. Still, it might not be so bad, for I am convinced that if the intellectual processes of most of the ladies and gentlemen of the movies were conveyed in sound, we should witness nothing but a deathly and enduring silence. For, however much they may talk before the camera, I feel certain that without lines written for them, most of these workers are quite dumb.

WITH THE utmost friendliness to both parties concerned, I am glad to note the publication of unfriendly telegrams between the federal and provincial governments concerning unemployment; not in a partisan sense, mark you, but in a sense so non-partisan that neither party will understand it as a slur on the other. This public breach, because it confirms what I have long contended, that the supposed hand-in-glove workings of federal and provincial governments of the same political stripe are all boloney. I have always known it, but the public hasn't, and the politicians, though knowing it only too well to their shame, have never admitted it. Instead, they have gone on telling the public that if a Conservative Government is in office in Ottawa there must be a Conservative Government here so as to get a maximum of federal favors.

BOTH PARTIES have used the same silly argument when, as a matter of fact, the internal quarrels of parties, precisely like the internal quarrels of families, are always much deeper than quarrels with the enemy. Almost invariably there is more bitterness between members of the same party than between public opponents, for the simple reason that you expect your opponent to fight you and take his hostility for granted, whereas you expect more from your political friends than you will give them. You are bound to be disappointed. That is why, in secret, there is seldom any harmony between governments of the same stripe in Ottawa and Victoria. The present incumbents do not get on as well together as they get on with their respective oppositions. The late Premier Oliver was in a continual argument with his federal friends, and didn't even try to disguise it. The obvious fact of all this is that federal and provincial parties, dealing with entirely different issues, have little or nothing in common, and the attempt to weld them just leads to confusion and unfriendly telegrams. It would be a lot better for all of us if each of them would attend to its own knitting and deal with issues publicly as they arise, instead of sneaking around to the back door to ask for favors from the rich relations at Ottawa, or throwing stones at Ottawa's windows if the opposition happens to be in temporary occupancy.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES

JUNE 10, 1907

(From The Times Files)

The Fifth Regiment yesterday morning commenced their annual training camp at the Drill Hall and paraded 250 strong, an increase over last year's strength by ten or fifteen men.

Weather forecast—Victoria and vicinity—Easterly and southerly winds, unsettled and cool, with occasional showers.

Seattle, June 10.—Yesterday's business in Judge Morris's department of the Superior Court broke the record for King County, thirty-three cases coming before the court, and thirty-three of divorce were granted. The majority of these were default cases, but several were warmly contested.

After spending three very enjoyable days in the city as guests of the Arion Club, the Orpheus Musical Club of Tacoma left for their home city on the steamer Indianapolis last evening.

On her way to the Orient, carrying overseas mail, the Empress of India is due to sail from this port to-morrow. The mail left England by the Empress of Ireland on June 1, and the voyage from Liverpool to Quebec was made in six days nine hours, the fastest run yet made by way of Cape Race.

Steamer Cascade, under charter, to the Marine and Fisheries Department, arrived in port yesterday, having been to Pachuca Point, where she landed a large quantity of material for the lighthouse under construction there.

FORCES TO FIGHT IN ABYSSINIA

Associated Press

Addis Ababa, Abyssinia, June 10.—Lidj Jeassu, who was Emperor of Abyssinia before Haile Selassie deposed him in 1917, recently escaped in the disguise of a woman from the captivity in which his successor had kept him for fifteen years.

It was disclosed to-day that he is hiding in the wild hills of the Golljam region, and that a large and influential following is gathering about him. Lidj has sent a warning that when the rainy season is over he will come down to Addis Ababa and settle accounts with his enemy, Haile Selassie.

POLICE GIVEN NEW WEAPONS

New Equipment For Officers' Cars in Vancouver to Reduce Banditry

Canadian Press

Vancouver, June 10.—To combat armed bandits, Vancouver's police prowler cars will be equipped with bullet-proof glass, high-powered guns, sirens, signal lights and windshield equipment designed to enable police to fire at fleeing automobiles. All this equipment will be in addition to radio receiving sets to be placed in twenty cars, which will be in constant communication with headquarters.

Authority was given by the police commission yesterday afternoon for Chief C. E. Edgett to obtain the necessary material to equip the cars to battle criminals.

The chief said trained shots were assigned to prowler cars, and the force was rapidly being equipped to meet gunmen with the most modern police methods within financial powers of the commission.

TO BE PENSIONED

Detective George Sutherland, one of the veteran officers of the city police force, will be retired on pension August 1, it was decided by the commission. The decision is in accord with the board's policy of retiring officers when they reach the age of fifty-five.

Criticism of the policy was expressed by Mayor Louis D. Taylor, chairman. "I must insist," he said, "that the board's policy is a mistake. We can not continue to pension men like this, sooner or later it will bankrupt us, and the provincial government feels the same way about it. I think last year's commission was wrong in fixing the age at fifty-five. It should be sixty-five, as in the case of city hall employees. I am not opposing this case, but I say it is too bad we have to lose these experienced officers."

No successor will be appointed to Mrs. Ada Tomlin, who will retire as head of the women's division of the city police force June 15, it was decided by the commission. Miss Gordon Forbes, a member of the division, will act as head of the department at her present salary.

SETTLEMENT APPROVED

The commission authorized settlement for $1,750 of an action by J. D. Caldwell against J. A. Reilly and Walter Bell of the city force for alleged false arrest and imprisonment and malicious prosecution.

The city solicitor reported the claim had arisen from the arrest of Mr. Caldwell in Los Angeles in April, 1930, in connection with the death in Vancouver of Mrs. Belle Perrin. The city had contested the claim on a question of jurisdiction, but had lost an appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada. The solicitor said he had been able to reduce the amount of the settlement from $3,500 to $1,750, and he recommended the commission settle for that amount.

The commission agreed to settle, and in doing so adopted a resolution absolving Mr. Caldwell from any suspicion in the Perrin case and stating no stigma was attached to his character through the arrest.

TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Police Chief Edgett, Chief of Detectives A. G. McNeill, A. F. Amor, secretary of the commission, and as many commissioners as can arrange to make the journey will attend the international police chiefs' convention in Portland, Oregon, June 14 to 17. This was decided by the commission.

LIBERALS FORM ORGANIZATION

Alberni-Nanaimo Provincial Liberal Association Formed Yesterday at Nanaimo

Nanaimo, June 10.—An representatives of the Liberal organizations comprised in the new Nanaimo-Alberni constituency met here last evening. After much discussion on the Redistribution Act it was decided to form an association to be known as Alberni-Nanaimo Provincial Liberal Association.

Who's Who At Rotary Gathering

ALMON E. ROTH
LUIS MACHADO
WALTER WATHALL
FREDERIC A. SCAFFER
G. FRED BIRKS
PHILIP C. LOVEJOY
RUSSELL V. WILLIAMS

ALMON E. ROTH, Palo Alto, Cal., immediate past president, director of member finance committee, Rotary International, was born in Utah in 1886, and spent his youth in northern California. He graduated from Stanford University, where he received degrees in 1909 and 1912. He was a member of the varsity football and track teams, and in his junior year, was president of the student body. Immediately subsequent to graduation, he was appointed advisor of men in the university, but after three years began the practice of law in San Francisco. In 1919 returned to the university as compiler and business manager. He is a leader in the state chamber of commerce, a director of the Palo Alto National Bank, of a building and loan association, and has been a school trustee. He was one of the organizers of the Palo Alto Rotary Club and served that club as president in 1925-26. He was president of the second district of R.I. in 1927-28; second vice-president of I. in 1928-29; a member of the community service committee in 1929-30, and president of Rotary International last year.

LUIS MACHADO, Havana, Cuba, director and member magazine committee, Rotary International, was born in the city of Guanabacoa, Cuba, in 1869. He studied law in the University of Havana. He is a well-known lawyer and is counseling-attorney of the American Chamber of Commerce in Cuba, and of the National Association of Credit.

In 1919 he formed part of the delegation which represented Cuba in the conference of the Versailles Treaty. Dr. Machado is well known in literary circles. He has collaborated on numerous occasions with the papers and magazines of Havana. He is the author of a book on the "Platt Amendment," and of another on "International Legislation of the Air." He lately published a notable book on the "Necessity of Adopting in Cuba a Policy of External Commerce."

Mr. Machado has been treasurer and president of the Rotary Club of Havana. He was governor of the twenty-fifth district last year.

WALTER WATHALL, San Antonio, Tex., director, Rotary International, was born in Perry County, Alabama. After graduating from business college he took up railroading, first as a yard clerk, then ticket seller, and then passenger agent for the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad Company, at San Antonio, Austin, Houston and Galveston. Advancing to various positions of authority, he became assistant general freight and passenger agent, and then executive general agent for the M.K.T. railway, with headquarters at San Antonio, Texas. He became a member of the Houston Rotary Club in 1916, and when he was transferred to San Antonio he became a member of that club in 1920, serving as a member of the board of directors, chairman of various committees, and finally became president in 1925-26. When he was selected governor of the forty-seventh district, he was at the same time president-elect of the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce.

FREDERIC A. SCAFFER, Globe, Arizona

director, Rotary International, was born in Cochran, Penn., in 1883, and educated at Allegheny College and Yale. He began the practice of law at Miami, Arizona, but after two years moved to Globe.

He is prominently affiliated with fraternal and church organizations. Rotarian Shaffer has been an elder and clerk of the session of the First Presbyterian Church of Globe for fifteen years, president of the Board of Trustees, and a member of the committee on the Board of National Missions, Synod of Arizona.

He is a member of the forty-third district in 1928-29, and a member of the constitution and by-laws committee, Rotary International, in 1929-30.

G. FRED BIRKS, Sydney, Australia

Mr. Birks was born in Kadina, South Australia. After grammar school education and attendance at a state school for a year, he became an apprentice to his father, who was a druggist. Upon attaining his majority, he entered the Adelaide University for chemistry, and after a two-year course was registered as a pharmacist. In 1926 he was made an honorary member of the Pharmaceutical Society of New South Wales. He is managing director of the firm of Potter and Birks Limited, wholesale druggists.

He has traveled around the world four times, and has visited Rotary Club conferences and conventions in the United States, England and Europe. He was governor of the sixty-fifth district from 1927 to 1929. He was appointed to fill an unexpired term in 1930-31, for the seventy-sixth district, which is a part of the old sixty-fifth.

PHILIP C. LOVEJOY, Chicago, Ill.

Mr. Lovejoy was born in Portland, Maine. He graduated from the University of Michigan with A.B. in 1916, and A.M. in 1925. He began his professional work as a teacher, subsequently becoming a principal of two different high schools in Michigan, and finally assistant superintendent of the Hamtramck, Michigan, public schools, in which capacity he was in charge of finance, public relations, and child accounting. He is on the editorial consultant board of "Nations Schools" and a contributor to magazines, especially in the educational field.

He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Delta Kappa and the American Educational Research Association. He was personnel officer with the A.E.F. for ten months. He joined the Rotary Club of Mount Clemens, Michigan, in 1924, and later the Hamtramck, Michigan, Rotary Club, where he was twice president. He took a very active part in Rotary affairs of the twenty-third district prior to his becoming affiliated with Rotary International in 1930. He is a member of the Rotary Club of Chicago.

RUSSELL V. WILLIAMS, Chicago, Ill.

Mr. Williams was born at Idaho Springs, Colorado. He received his preparatory education in that city, but later went to Colorado Springs where he entered Colorado College, from which institution he was graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Science. This was followed by post-graduate work in Chicago in the line of electric utilities management. Mr. Williams enlisted in 1917 in the First Illinois Engineers. He was an officer of engineers in the A.E.F. with fifteen months' service in France. At the close of the war, he did editorial work for A. W. Shaw and Company, for which firm he acted as manager of editorial production.

In 1921 Mr. Williams joined the secretariat of Rotary International, starting as an assistant on publicity work. Later he assisted the secretary in co-operating with the vocational service and classification committees of Rotary International. In December, 1927, he went to Zurich, Switzerland, where he served in the capacity of European secretary. Last year he returned to Chicago to take charge of the club organization and administration work. Mr. Williams has been a member of the Rotary Club of Chicago since 1923.

SIR CHARLES MANDER THINKS CANCELLATION WILL ULTIMATELY COME

Matter of Business Policy,
But Time Not Yet Ripe, Says
British Industrialist

Opportunity For Britain and Empire Nations to Lead
World Out of Morass

Sir Charles A. Mander of Wolverhampton, British industrialist, who is here to attend the sessions of the Rotary International Assembly, is of the opinion that cancellation of all war debts will eventually come, but thinks the time is not yet ripe.

"It will be either that or successive moratoriums because of the incapacity of nations to pay," declared Sir Charles in an interview given yesterday at the Empress Hotel.

He illustrated his point incisively and cleverly. "If a person rented a room in a hotel and stubbornly refused to leave it when the building was on fire, would it help him by staying there? Would it not be better for him to try and save himself and save as much as he could out of the wreckage?"

BUSINESS POLICY
"It seems to me that cancellation must ultimately come, simply as a matter of business policy. It would assuredly have the immediate effect of putting more money into circulation, and it naturally follows that if more currency is circulated and commodity prices go up, it will be possible to produce more at a profit and not at a loss."

"If nations continue to hoard gold, there is nothing left to form the basis of currency and prices, of course, go down."

"It is difficult for the United States to realize that she is bound up with the prosperity of Europe. What surprises me, and doubtless other people, too, is the fact that Woodrow Wilson succeeded in bringing the United States into the World War. It was a miracle. It could only have been the enthusiasm and idealism of the United States people that impelled them to come up to the scratch. I feel convinced that no other man, other than President Wilson, could have done it."

"The problems being faced by all nations are inter-related, and I don't think conditions will improve in any country without all-round co-operation," Sir Charles remarked.

BETTER IN BRITAIN
In turning to the general situation in Great Britain, Sir Charles said the outlook had been tremendously improved since the country had gone off the gold standard and had adopted silver as a basis of trading.

He said there had been a noticeable improvement in the industrial situation. Of the 2,600,000 listed as unemployed in Great Britain, including both sexes over the age of eighteen years, fully 500,000 of these were working part time, said Sir Charles. The 10 per cent tariff had given immediate relief and had given renewed vigor to the industrial life of Great Britain.

Now that all eyes were being turned towards Ottawa, there was a growing feeling of hope that some good would come out of the economic conference of empire nations.

It offered an opportunity, he observed, for Great Britain and the nations composing the empire, to lead the world out of the morass. He believed that some preference should be given on empire foodstuffs, and that larger preferences should be given on British manufactured goods.

Since April 22 last, Sir Charles has been traveling extensively in the United States, addressing Rotary conferences in many parts of the country.

"We met many delightful people and, the tour through the States was most interesting and enjoyable," he said.

With Lady Mander, Sir Charles visited and addressed two Rotary conferences in Texas and others at El Paso, Dodge City, Kansas, the famous cow town of the south; Grand Canyon, Colo.; San Francisco, later speaking before seven different Rotary gatherings in various sections of the state of California, and subsequently proceeding to Missoula, Montana.

It was from Missoula that Sir Charles and Lady Mander came on to Victoria via Seattle. While they were in the United States they traveled 11,700 miles.

Sir Charles stated he was amazed by the absence of European news in the newspapers published in the United States.

MELLON IN LONG PANTS
"When I was in San Francisco the other day," said Sir Charles, "the only item of British news I could find in the papers featured the recent attendance of Andrew Mellon at the Court of St. James in long pants. It was rather amusing, you know, for when we refer to pants in England we mean underclothes. Just imagine how ridiculous it would be to visualize the statesman, ambassador, to Great Britain going to a court function in his B.V.D.'s."

LANGFORD

The Parent-Teacher Association met in the schoolhouse on Wednesday evening with Mrs. H. H. Hinks, vice-president, in the chair. Mr. Merry announced the organization had forty-eight members. The Langford Community Association asked support for a basket picnic on July 1 and several members offered support as individuals. D. B. F. Bullen, on behalf of the Boy Scout committee, received their charter and the troop was congratulated on their success at the recent rally. The company is only two months old and won third place in the knot tying contest and fourth place in the swimming relay race. A bugle has been given the Scout by A. F. Driver. It was decided to discontinue meeting during July and August. Mrs. Mary McCoy Jameson gave a lantern lecture on the life of Carolina Nairne. She recited several of Countess Nairne's poems and sang many of the songs composed by her, accompanied by Mrs. E. Bosward. Donald McCrae operated the lantern.

A Boy Scout camp will be held on Salt Spring Island from August 8 to 20. Particulars may be obtained from D. B. F. Bullen.

The Boy Scouts will meet at the home of Capt. R. J. Wagner, Goldstream Road, at 10:30 o'clock on Saturday for a whole day hike.

A Wolf Cub branch is being formed for boys from seven to eleven years of age. Candidates are asked to meet at the schoolhouse on Saturday at 2 o'clock with a letter from their parents, expressing consent.

A tennis match will be played on Sunday between the Langford "A" team

Motorists Amazed at Performance of the New Ford Eight

"Marvelous!" "Smoothest riding car I've ever known!"

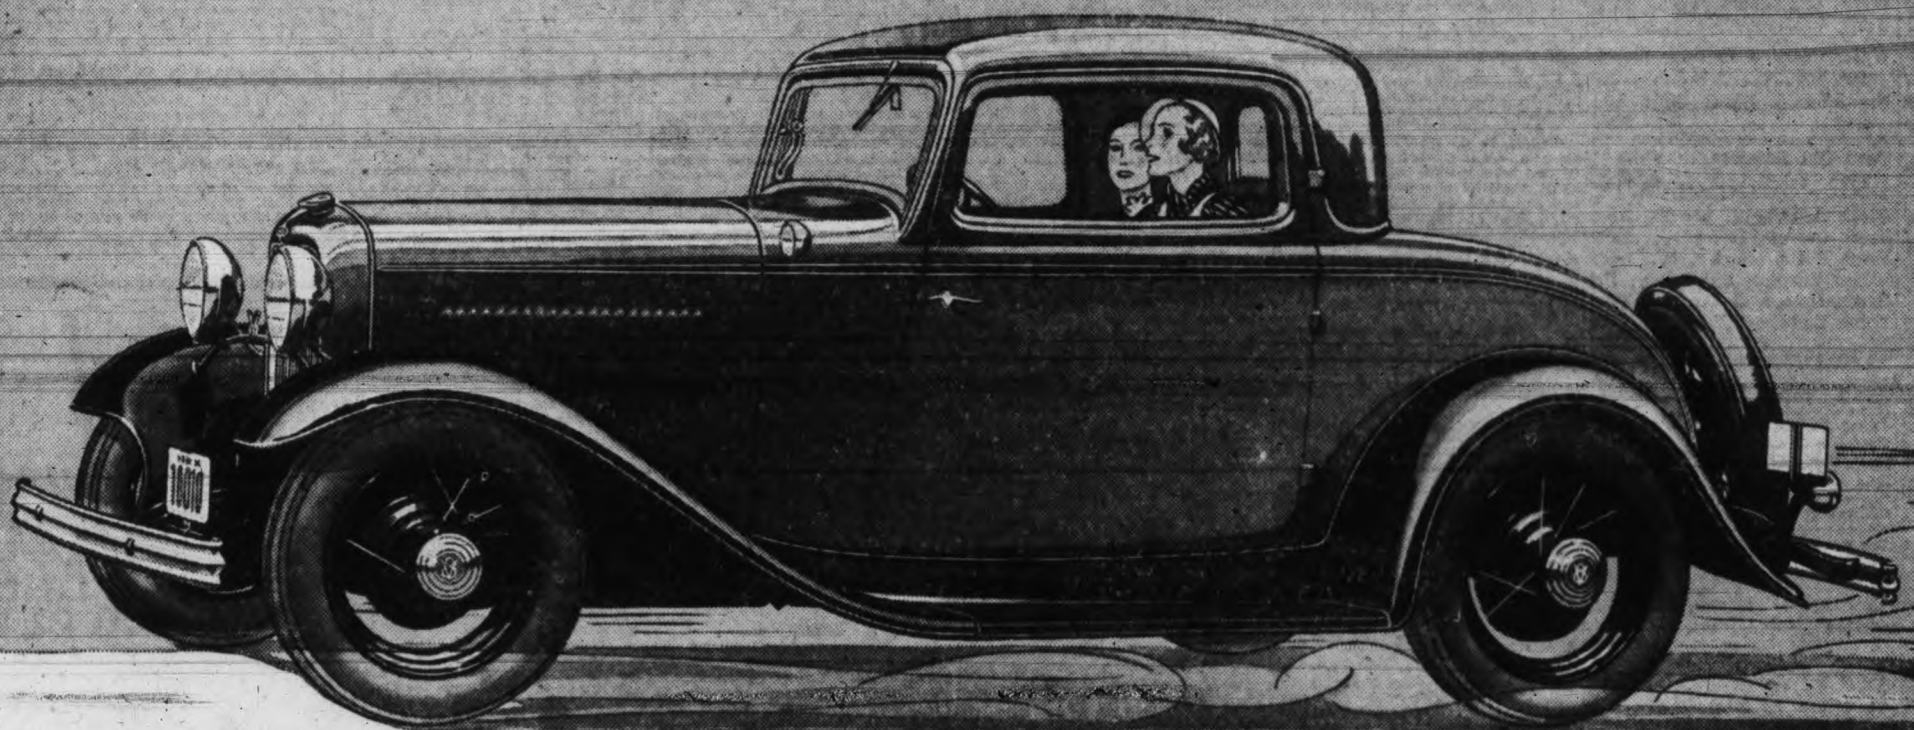

"Back seat as comfortable as front!"

"Like an airplane!" "What wonderful brakes!"

"Faster than I'd hoped!" "You can scarcely hear the engine!"

"I didn't expect such remarkable gasoline mileage!"

"I've never driven a car like it!" "It almost drives itself!"

EVERY MOTORIST who has driven the New Ford Eight has been amazed at its sensational performance and remarkable riding comfort. It isn't just a new eight-cylinder car but a new kind of eight-cylinder car. New in design! New in economy! New in the joy it puts in motoring!

You've never driven a car like it! It's roomier and faster and more comfortable than your fondest hopes. So fleet and responsive and perfectly balanced that it seems to glide over the road without effort.

Your very first ride will tell you that it is the greatest value in the history of the automobile. You'll be more enthusiastic about it than you've been about any car you've ever known—regardless of price.

It is almost unbelievable that such smoothness, speed, power, quiet, comfort and quality can be offered at such low cost.

BIBLICAL DRAMA WILL ANNOUNCE
MONDAY NIGHT ROYAL BETROTHAL

Members of St. John's Branch A.Y.P.A. Will Present Play in Shrine Hall

The Biblical drama, "Follow Thou Me," will be presented by the members of St. John's branch, A.Y.P.A., in the Shrine Hall on Monday, June 13, under the auspices of Victoria Chapter No. 17, Order of the Eastern Star.

This drama, consisting of four acts, vividly portrays the effect of Christ's teachings on the members of Pontius Pilate's household in the year 33 A.D. At the time of the crucifixion and resurrection, and the state of nervous tension prevalent at that period is very well depicted by those taking part. A charming love story runs in an undercurrent through the drama and assures the interest of those witnessing it, from the commencement until the final curtain.

The play will be given under the direction of S. C. Hawkins, with the following taking part: Misses K. Smith, H. Thomas, C. Jeeve, K. Brown, R. Bouslow, B. Darby, M. Pitman, L. Trickett, A. Sharpe and E. Hooper, and S. C. Hawkins, John Hooper, Jack Laver, Jack Archer and John Vesey. Music, Miss Jessie Jones and Arthur Davis. The ladies of Victoria Chapter will serve refreshments.

Typographical W.A.—The monthly meeting of W.A. No. 65 to Typographical Union 201, was held in the Jones Building on Fort Street yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Chislett presiding. Splendid reports were received by various committees. The summer outing will be held at Hamsterley Lakeside on Thursday, June 23.

Stockholm, June 10.—Stockholm newspapers said to-day the betrothal ceremony of Prince Gustaf Adolf of Sweden to Princess Sibylla of Sax-Coburg-Gotha will take place at Coburg on July 6, the birthday anniversary of King Gustaf.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Parents are increasingly being urged to consider left-handedness not as a bad habit or an evidence of "stubbornness," but as a perfectly natural manifestation of the person whose motor centres are the opposite of the right-handed individual.

A HARD LIFE

Because of the greater number of right-handed persons, the poor infant whose tendencies were all in the opposite direction has heretofore led a hard life. He has been scolded and scolded and even whipped for insisting upon making use of what his mother considered to be such an awkward hand. One cruel father related with great glee that he tied up his son's left hand until eventually he succeeded in making him right-handed.

These parents have usually been blind to the after-effects of such a forcing process. Adults who are now aware of the more striking effects of the forced use of the right hand have been able to trace some of their own nervousness, lack of nimbleness, and perhaps inclination toward stammering to this apparently simple change.

Authorities are constantly urging parents not to make any effort to upset left-handedness. Up to a certain age babies use both right and left hands indiscriminately. After this time, the right-handed baby shows a preference for that hand, and the left-handed baby persistently changes everything from the right to the left hand. If he prefers this hand, he should be allowed to use it to spoon up his food, to rattle his toys, and later to draw and cut with.

The left-handed person looks awkward to us, but this awkwardness is as nothing compared to what it would be were he forced to use his right hand. One mother said that she urged her children to use both hands, letting them choose the one which they preferred to use for finer, more intricate work. The result is that her left-handed children use their right hand for holding his eating utensils, but makes use of his left for painting and drawing, at which he is adept.

NEUROUS COMPLICATIONS
Not only the parent but the teacher as well should be aware of the speech difficulties and the nervous ailments with which she saddles the child when she deprives him of the use of his natural hand. The teacher who refuses to let a left-handed child use his left hand is putting an insurmountable obstacle in the way of his writing and makes his life nervously complicated.

We should first of all erase the idea that there is anything queer or inferior about the left-handed person. The difficulties he encounters are all of our own making. If we allow left-handed children to remain left-handed, we may find in time that there are as many left-handed individuals as right-handed ones. Heretofore, we have put so many snags in the way of the child's remaining left-handed that we are in no position to say positively that the race is naturally predominantly right-handed.

PREPARE FOR GARDEN PARTY

Native Daughters of B.C. Post No. 3, made final arrangements at the regular business meeting, June 8, for a garden party to be held June 25 at Mount Joy. Members in colonial costume will be in charge of the various stalls. There will be a musical programme and afternoon tea will be served.

A picnic, planned for June 22 will be held at Sister Newbury's home at Langford Lake. Members are requested to meet at Hudson's Bay at 5.30 o'clock and come provided with the necessary dishes and cutlery. The attendance prize was won by Sister W. Kinsman.

TAG DAY FOR NURSES' ORDER

Citizens Will Be Asked For Help Saturday to Continue
Good Work

A tag day for the benefit of the Victorian Order of Nurses, an organization that is carrying on, quietly and efficiently, a wonderful work in public health service, will be held Saturday.

Established in the year 1897 by the Countess of Aberdeen, it is a Canadian order built on the lines of The Queen's Nursing Association in England. Its object is to provide for the people of Canada, irrespective of creed, class or color, trained nursing service at a moderate rate or, if need be, free.

FUNDS URGENTLY NEEDED
There is a branch of the V.O.N. in every city of importance in Canada, and owing to the continued financial depression it is becoming more and more difficult for the order to carry on its work. Funds are urgently needed and the directors earnestly ask the monetary support of the general public to enable the order to continue its valuable work.

The V.O.N., which covers Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt, receives grants from those sections, whose generous contributions from private individuals, membership fees and tag days and what nurses can collect, assist in maintaining the order.

The personnel of the staff in Victoria is Miss Thornley Hall, R.N.; Miss A. Benzie, R.N., who looks after the tubercular patients; Miss Amy Boyce, R.N.; Miss E. Olsen, R.N.; and Miss E. Forrest, R.N. Miss Stead is in charge of the office at the headquarters on Cook Street, while the board of management consists of Mrs. Durand, president; Mrs. Norman Yarrow, honorary secretary, and Mrs. F. V. Longstaff, honorary treasurer.

HOME WEDDING
HELD AT SOOKE

Miss Isabella Milne and Mr.
Allan Macleod United in Marriage

A pretty wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents on Wednesday evening, when Rev. S. Lundie united in marriage Miss Isabella Milne, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Milne, of Milne's Landing, and Mr. Allan Macleod, son of Mr. and Mrs. Macleod, Isle of Lewis, Scotland. A color scheme of pink and white was carried out, a profusion of mock-orange blossoms and pyrethrum being used in the decoration throughout the rooms. The ceremony was performed in a corner of the room which was massed with a background of aynings, the couple standing under an archway made of white streamers, from which was suspended a huge white bell.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Edward Milne, looked charming in a dress of apricot crepe with long sleeves and a long, flaring skirt, the bodice being trimmed with erou lace and fagoting, with a pointed collar at the back falling in to the waist. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations, bridal roses and fern.

Miss Agnes Milne, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid and looked very pretty in a sleeveless dress of palest blue flat crepe modeled on long straight lines and trimmed with a capelet and scalloped neckline. A belt crossed in front and fastened on the sides was used to accentuate the waistline. Her bouquet was of pale pink pyrethrum and sweet peas.

Mr. Malcolm McDonald of Jordan River supported the groom.

Mrs. Milne, mother of the bride, received the guests and wore a gown of black silk flat crepe trimmed with satin.

A three-tier wedding cake centred the table, while pink tapers in rose colored holders were placed at each end.

Following the reception the couple left on the midnight boat for the mainland, where the honeymoon will be spent. They will make their home at Cloverdale, B.C.

For traveling the bride wore a navy blue figured silk ensemble with a navy coat and hat and accessories to match.

Among the many beautiful presents received by the couple were a pyrexia plate and silver stand from the Sooke Badminton Club, of which the bride is a member.

MRS. NICHOL TO TAKE SALUTE

Lieut.-Governor and Mrs.
Fordham Johnson to Attend
Guides' Party

Mrs. W. C. Nichol, Divisional Commissioner of Girl Guides, will take salute at the garden party to be given at her residence, "Rosedene," 1759 Rockland Avenue, on Saturday afternoon.

Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. J. W. Fordham Johnson have accepted invitations to be present. Mrs. Curtis Sampson, honorary president of the association, will also be a guest.

The march-past will take place at 3 o'clock, and will be followed by the Brownies' "Frolic." A demonstration of country dancing will be given by the prize-winning team of the First Victoria Ranger Company, which won honors at the musical festivals in Victoria and Vancouver, at 3.45 and 4.45 o'clock.

Afternoon tea will be served by the ladies of the local association, and the tea-party readings will be given. Pony rides will be among the many attractions for the younger visitors.

Mr. R. B. Dunn of the editorial staff of The Daily Colonist, returned to Victoria this morning from a trip to eastern Canada.

BIRTHDAY TEA
AT ST. PAUL'S

A successful birthday tea was held yesterday afternoon in the rectory grounds of St. Paul's Garrison Church. The tea tables were each centred with bowls of roses and were invitingly placed in shady corners of the lawn. A remarkably tempting display of home-cooking was offered in the large hall of the church house and found a ready sale.

The guests were received by Rev. and Mrs. F. C. Chapman and by Mrs. W. E. A. Barclay, president of the Women's Auxiliary.

Mrs. J. E. McDonald, Mrs. W. T. Phillips and Miss Peggy McDonald were in charge of the home-cooking stall. Mrs. Barclay, Mrs. Greaves, Mrs. W. Creed, Miss K. Hallam and Miss Frances Price were the tea committee.

A delightful programme was given during the afternoon. Vocal and violin items by Mr. Harvey Dobson delighted the gathering. Miss Thelma Birnie proved a most sympathetic accompanist.

The proceeds will be devoted to paying the taxes of the church.

"I do think
CERTO helped me
win these prizes"

"I do think Certo helped me win these prizes—1st for strawberry jam and 1st for currant, crabapple and plum and apple jelly. Certo is especially good for strawberry and raspberry jam," writes Mrs. D. Schmidt, Alsask, Sask.

You can make all your jams and jellies of prize-winning quality if you use Certo—the easy, quick "short-boil" method. No failure—no waste—half as much again of jam or jelly from a given amount of fruit—a perfect set if you follow directions carefully.

Then use Certo the whole year 'round with any fruit, fresh, canned or dried—or fruit juice. Results will delight you.

Many splendid recipes
Each Certo bottle has a Certo recipe booklet under the label. These tested recipes explain the use of nearly every available fruit including fruits that never before would jelly.

Don't be perplexed by any problem of jam or jelly making. Should you desire any information whatsoever, write to Consumer Service Department, General Foods, Ltd., Cobourg, Ont.

CERTO

—Is fruit pectin.
—The natural jelling substance extracted from fruit.
—Tells the juice that would have boiled away by the old (long-boil) method.
—Makes 50% more jam or jelly at less cost per jar.
—Saves 2/3 the time. Saves the fruit flavour. Saves the fruit colour.

"Fresh from the Gardens"

"The Plains of Abraham"

BY JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

(Copyright by Doubleday Doran Co., Inc.)

So quickly did Jeems see these things that the echoes of Toinette's screams had scarcely died away before their meaning pressed itself upon him. The savage possessed a moment of advantage, and as Jeems made a movement to whip an arrow from his quiver, the scalp hunter swung his gun to fire. Seeing the hopelessness of his position, Jeems sprang forward and buried his useless bow at his enemy. This and the impact of his body came at an instant when the other let the hammer of his flintlock fall, and with the explosion of the gun the lead from its barrel flew wild. The scalp hunter had seen only a boy and a girl, and a vision of easy victims had leapt to his mind. Now he found upon him an antagonist of unexpected strength and ferocity. In the first few seconds of the fray, neither had a chance to draw knife or tomahawk, and with all the pent-up madness of his body and brain Jeems struck at his enemy and clutched his slippery throat as they crashed to earth together. For a space Toinette's horror-filled eyes could scarcely tell which was one and which the other and Odd, snarling white-fanged at their heels, was unable to become a partner in the conflict. Then, with a powerful effort, the scalp hunter freed himself and sprang to his feet, drawing his tomahawk in the act. As he prepared to use his weapon, Odd vaulted for his throat, and the blunt head of the hatchet met him in midair, striking with such force upon his head that he fell a limp and inert mass to the ground.

A cry of triumph came from the bleeding lips of the Frankenstein, who saw victory within his reach, for he saw the youth, who was on his feet with a hatchet in his hand, as an insignificant obstacle between himself and the pallid-faced loveliness of the girl whom chance had so fortunately placed in his way. This cry, uttered by glee and habit, betrayed only a trace of the white man. It was guttural exultation of one lost to all the obligations of blood and race, a cry loosed not so much by heat as by passion as by the promise of what he saw as his eyes appraised Toinette. Toinette had possessed herself of the empty gun and stood at Jeems's side, prepared to fight.

Jeems was so near that his arm pressed against her and he gave a sideways thrust which sent her headling among the bushes. In this same movement he hurled his hatchet at the scalp hunter, who was slowly advancing. As the other dodged to avoid the hurtling missile Jeems snatched one of his scattered arrows from the ground and ran to his bow. Toinette saw the nimble, beautiful figure of Jeems drawn tenses as his weapon in the pathway. She saw the pallid monster descending upon him. She heard the musical twang of the bowstring and saw a silvery flash—a flash which passed in at one side of the blue-eyed Indian and went out at the other, a flash which fell to earth a score of paces beyond, a bloody and broken arrow that had done its righteous work.

That the explosion of the gun would reach the ears of the Mohawks was in Jeems's mind as he comforted his shocked companion. For a few moments it was difficult for her to believe the combat was over and that easier country," he explained. "Can you hold out a little longer?"

"It was the running that turned me faint," said Toinette. "I am as strong as you are now, Jeems. But may I stop and braid my hair? It is cumbersome and warm, and I wish you would cut it off!"

"I would cut off my arm first," declared Jeems. "We will be farther on, and if you will wait until we have put ourselves beyond that mass of rocks there—"

His words remained unfinished. From behind them came a cry. It was not fierce nor one that seemed to carry menace, and bore with it a strange and almost musical softness. Jeems knew its meaning. The Mohawks were on the ridge. One of them was calling his scattered companions to evidence of their passing which he had discovered.

Jeems hastened Toinette over the rocks.

"They have found some sign of us," he explained. "It may be one of Odd's claw marks on a stone, or the scratch from a nail in your shoe. Whatever it is, they only know we have come this way and will still believe we have taken to the plain."

Toinette saw how desperately he was trying to keep from her the real news of their peril.

"I have seen Indians climb over rocks and windfalls. They are like cats—and I am so slow and clumsy," she said. "You can move faster than any Indian, Jeems. Hide me somewhere among these rocks—and go on alone. I am sure they will not harm me if they should happen to discover where I am."

Jeems did not answer. They had come to the rocks which he had spoken of a few moments before. Here, if anywhere, was a place for concealment. It was filled with dark and cavernous refuges, and where the boulders met and crushed together were hidden pockets where their bodies might lie unseen. Toinette perceived these things with a heart that lighted with relief and hope. She looked into Jeems's face as he paused for a moment to study the ground about them.

A dozen steps from where they stood were three boulders apart from the others. One of the three had split itself so that one half of it was a slab that formed a roof for the crevice between the other two.

Jeems's eyes revealed a deeper excitement as he pointed it out to Toinette.

"We will hide—and in there!" he cried. "Make haste, Toinette! It is smooth rock and will leave no sign behind us. Go in and keep Odd with you!"

He began to throw loose stones about the huge boulder heap. Soon he fringed over the top of it so that they fell on the opposite side, and at last he sent a few into the edge of the valley, each farther than the other. He finished by shooting an arrow which descended in an open space at the foot of the ridge.

Toinette watched him in amazement and alarm until he commanded her in a stern voice to crawl quickly under the stones. She waited no longer, but pulled herself a few inches at a time beneath the boulders. Jeems, thrusting Odd ahead of him, had greater difficulty in performing this same feat, and for a little while they equaled and twisted until they found a crowd of themselves and even sat upright. Jeems explained to Toinette the meaning of his strange behavior out of side.

"First they will find the loose stones and the marks I made and search for us in ever hole and cranny of the hill," he said. "When they discover the arrow I hope they will believe we have fled into the forest."

They waited in a silence wherein the beating of their hearts was like the sound of tiny drums in the gloom of their hiding place. A shudder ran through Toinette, but she whispered: "I am not afraid."

She felt Jeems fumbling for his hatchet and heard him place it quietly on the naked rock at his side.

Then the rock itself seemed to give forth a faint sound as if some one had tapped it gently with a stick.

This sound grew into others that were soft and swift, and Jeems knew that moccasined feet were all about them. Low voices added themselves to the pattering tread. Toinette fixed her eyes on the crack through which came the shaft of light, and occasionally it was darkened as a body passed it. The tread of feet came and went, and they heard the clatter of rocks. But for a time all voices died away, and it was this silence which became almost unbearable for Toinette.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Fire Alarm

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Through the dark woods Uncle Wiggily hopped home to his hollow-stump bungalow. Yet it wasn't so very dark, for the rabbit gentleman, as he was called, in a cute little box a Lightning Bug. The bug, flashing his light beneath his wings, made the dark path quite bright for the rabbit gentleman.

"This is very jolly," said Uncle Wiggily as he hopped along, not stubbing his toe nor splashing into mud puddles because, by reason of the firefly's light, he could see where he was stepping. "It is very jolly."

"I'm glad I can help you," said the bright bug.

"And I'm sure my wife will be glad to have you in our bungalow because, if the electric lights go out any time, you can take their place," spoke the rabbit.

"I'll do my best," promised the Lightning Bug.

"I'm sure you will," agreed Mr. Longears. "And my wife will like you much more than she did the June Bug."

He slid downstairs

That was what had taken Uncle Wiggily to the woods after dark, to let the June Bug fly loose there. The rabbit had taken a June Bug home with him, but as soon as the lights were turned on the June Bug seemed into everybody, bumping them, so Nurse Jane and Mrs. Longears made the rabbit take the June Bug back to the woods. And it was in the woods that Uncle Wiggily found a big Lightning Bug to take home.

"Well, Wiggily, what have you there?" sleepily asked Mrs. Longears when her husband came back to the bungalow and put something on the mantle in the bedroom. For Mrs. Longears, tired of sitting up for her husband, had gone to bed.

"This," said Mr. Longears, speaking in a whisper so he would not awaken the little bunny boys and girls, "this is another Bug, my dear."

"Don't tell me you have brought back another June Bug!" exclaimed the rabbit lady, sitting up in bed.

"Not a June Bug but a Lightning Bug," answered Mr. Longears.

"Oh, all right," said his wife, growing sleepy again. "I'll look at him in the morning."

So Uncle Wiggily left the Lightning Bug in the little birch bark box on the mantel, first lifting the cover of the box so the Bug would have plenty of air.

All of a sudden Mrs. Longears, who happened to open one eye, saw a light flashing on the ceiling of the room.

"Wiggily!" she exclaimed sitting up quickly, "are you lighting matches in your sleep?"

"No, not in my sleep nor in my wake, either," answered the bunny who was just going off. "What's the matter? I have no matches."

"Then what are those light flashes?"

see on the ceiling?" asked Mrs. Longears.

"Oh, that must be my Lightning Bug," murmured Mr. Longears sitting up and looking at the mantel. "Yes, it is," he went on. "The Bug is showing his light which he always does at night. There's no harm."

"Oh, dear!" sighed Mrs. Longears. "This is almost as bad as the June Bug was, only not quite. I'm sorry, Lightning Bug," went on Mrs. Longears, "but I can't sleep if you keep flashing your light that way."

"I'm sorry, too," said the Bug. "But I have to."

"Then, Wiggily," said his wife, "you'll have to take that Lightning Bug down to the kitchen."

"All right," agreed the rabbit who always tried to please his wife. So he jumped out of bed and took the Lightning Bug in the box, downstairs. And on the way nothing much happened except that Uncle Wiggily stepped on some peanut shells Baby Bunty had scattered and it so surprised him that he slipped and slid most of the way downstairs.

However, it makes a jolly adventure," said the rabbit gentleman as he limped back up to bed, having put the Lightning Bug on the kitchen table. He was just going to sleep again, as was his wife, when, from outside the bungalow the Police Dog barked and cried:

"Fire, fire! Uncle Wiggily's bungalow is on fire! Get up, Wiggily! Jump out of the window, you and your wife and Nurse Jane and all the little bunnies! I'll save you! Fire, fire! I'll call the water bugs and save you!"

"What's all this?" cried Mrs. Longears.

"Your bungalow is on fire!" barked the Police Dog. "I can see flashes of fire in your kitchen."

"Nonsense!" said Uncle Wiggily with a laugh. "It's just my Lightning Bug and so it was. So the Police Dog begged to be excused for making the fire alarm and they all went back to bed and the firefly flashed his light until morning and then he went to sleep.

You're Going to Be Married, Don't Torture Your Intended With Details of Your Previous Love Affairs—Instead, Turn the Spotlight On the Quirks in Your Own Disposition So That There Will Be Time to Back Out

CORRESPONDENT asks: "What should an engaged couple tell each other before marriage?"

Well, one of the things they should NOT tell each other is all about their previous love affairs. Confiding to you are about to marry how crazy used to be about Susie or how more you were of John is a fatal mistake. It does no good. It only feeds the fire of jealousy in the heart of your betrothed and later on furnishes material for recriminations in times of domestic strife. After all, this is a morbid desire to be a first is all hokey. What counts is to be last love.

Literally in marriage the things that people don't know about each other don't worry them. Thousands of married couples live together in happiness and peace and are all the better husbands and wives because, like Kipling's hero, they have learned about men and women from some former romance of which their present partners never heard.

But if these contented spouses had been foolish and weak enough to indulge in sentimental confessions, gone would have been their peace and happiness. They would have placed in each other's hand a stick of dynamite that likely to explode and blow their marriage to Kingdom Come at any minute. Jack's fabled beanstalk was a slow grower and a poor producer compared the crop of suspicion that a husband's or wife's imaginations can raise if once have the seed of doubt planted in their minds.

So mum's the word as regards former sweeties and boy friends. The best said of them, the better. The less you tell, the less you will have to explain and the fewer alibis you will have to furnish. Besides, the man or woman is a poor sport who kisses and tells.

The chief thing that I think an engaged couple should tell each other is truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth about their dispositions, because that is the thing that is going to matter more than anything else on to the one who is taking them on for a lifetime.

I think that when a man is high-tempered and irritable and goes into rages where he curses and swears and hurls insults at all about him, that he should make a clean breast of it before he marries a girl and give her a chance to back out in time to save herself. And when a man is grouchy and sullen and enjoys sulking by himself and is about as companionable as a store dummy, or when he is stingy and close-fisted and begrudges every nickel he spends, or when he is indolent and hates to work, he should also tell the girl so that she could take him or leave him.

And certainly a girl should be honest with a man and tell him, while he is still on the safe side of the altar, that she is quick-tempered and spoiled and fish and extravagant and naggy and bossy, and that she doesn't know a thing about housekeeping or cooking, and that she will expect her husband to do a combination cash register and gigolo.

And a man should tell a girl exactly how much money he makes and what style they will have to live in. Most men deal in glittering generalities on this subject and talk vaguely about protecting their wives from very hardship and that their ill-white hands shall never do aught but soothe their fevered brows.

Then, when the girl discovers after marriage that she has to pinch pennies to do all of the housework, it gives her a jolt from which she never recovers. A bridegroom's gift to his bride is going to be a cookstove, he shouldn't let it as a surprise for her. He should let her know of it beforehand.

And a girl should definitely and unequivocally state her position and let the man know beforehand where she stands on the domestic platform. If she prefers a mahogany desk in an office to a gas range in her own kitchen; if she intends to mix a career and matrimony; if she regards babies as brats and is unalterably opposed to the same; if she intends to feed her husband out of paper bags and tin cans; if she does not propose to let home duties interfere with her bridge and her clubs, or a mere husband to stand in the way of her flirtations, certainly she should warn the man so he could try out the noble experiment of matrimony, or avoid it as his prudence dictated.

Both parties should state their views on the financial question before marriage. A man should tell the girl he wants to marry whether he believes that a husband should be the sole and august bearer of the pocketbook and sets his wife to work for her board and clothes, or whether he means to go fifty-fifty with her and give her a fair allowance. And the girl should tell him whether she will keep within her allowance, or whether she will regard it as a mere spring-board from which to jump off into the deep waters of large accounts.

And both the man and the woman should settle the in-law question and which one is to be made the sacrificial goat on the other one's family altar.

Oh, there are a lot of things for an engaged couple to tell each other besides the beautiful and wonderful they are, and how different from all other men and women.

Interesting Trees

V-IN AUSTRALIA

Last year I talked with a man from Australia, and asked him: "What is to you the greatest difference between Australia and this country?"

He replied: "Your trees are so different from ours that I feel as if I were in a different world."

Thus you see that if you want to find a "new world," all you need to do is take a little trip to Australia. To do so, you will need to spend about two weeks on the ocean—each way. Australia is the home of some queer animals, including the kangaroo and the duckbill. The duckbill is a small, funny animal with a bill like that of a duck. Strange as it may seem, this animal lays eggs. Scientists have had hard time to decide whether it should be classed as a bird or a mammal.

The bottle tree is one of the interesting trees which grow in Australia. It is so named because the trunk may mind a person of a bottle.

Bottle trees are found in hot, sandy parts of Australia—especially in Queensland. When travelers become thirsty, they may look around for one of these trees. By cutting into the trunk, they obtain water to drink.

Other trees in Australia include alms, tree-ferns and acacias.

Chamber of Commerce Proclaims Strawberry Week Between June 15 to 23

To promote local consumption of the luscious strawberries which have brought fame to Saanich in the three western provinces, the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, through its agricultural committee, has proclaimed that "Strawberry Week" will be observed in Victoria between June 15 and June 23 inclusive. The chamber's campaign will be supported actively by the Saanich Board of Trade.

Rev. M. W. J. Bruce, chairman of the agricultural committee of the chamber, and president of the Saanich Board of Trade, has issued the following explanation of the "Strawberry Week" campaign:

"This is a case where by helping others we can all help ourselves. There is no finer fruit than the local strawberry, and it will be at its best during Strawberry Week. Berries from Vancouver Island have built up a fine name wherever they have been sent, and a brisk home market backing the efforts of the growers would do much to lend encouragement in a year when it will be needed.

"Every picker employed, too, takes one from the number of those without work, so that Strawberry Week is a practical effort from every angle.

"During the peak of the picking season considerable congestion takes place and deliver home consumption will be of practical assistance to the growers.

"This year we are hopeful that Victorians will not rest at using the berries in their own homes, but respectfully suggest that they take the opportunity of sending some away to their friends. In cases where this is not convenient, it is well to remember that there are many men in relief camps who would be glad of a crate of these berries and who are without the means of obtaining them. It is a case of help one, help all."

The funeral of Henry John Veale took place yesterday afternoon. Rev. O. L. Jull conducted the service and interment was in Royal Oak Burial Park. The following acted as pallbearers: G. Wells Jr., J. A. Corlett, F. S. Davies, H. E. Pratt, A. M. Sinclair and Rev. F. W. McKinnon.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Reeve Crouch was yesterday evening reappointed by the Saanich Council as its representative upon the directorate of the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Mayor Leeming and the city aldermen have received an invitation to attend the speech day ceremonies at Brentwood College on June 25.

The weekly meeting of the working class, Ex-Servicemen's League, will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the Sons of Canada hall, View Street.

After many repeated requests the James Bay young people will again produce the three-act comedy entitled "His Uncle's Niece" in the church at night at 8 o'clock.

In the Salvation Army self denial claim which began in April and ends to-day the sum of $2,250 has been obtained. All those who helped in any way are offered the thanks of the committee in charge.

William Pearmain, 3761 Craigmill Avenue, was fined $20, and Robert Warren, 29 Cambridge Street, was granted a remand until next Thursday in the Saanich Police Court yesterday afternoon, on charges of driving to the common danger.

Enrollment at the Victoria High School totalled 1,243 students for May, the Victoria school board reports. The public school enrollment was 5,717 with an average attendance of 5,392.44. There are thirty-seven pupils less this year than last year.

Bruce Nixon and John Maurice Davies have been appointed commissioners for the West Langley Dyking district, in the place of Thomas Wellman and Reginald Lee. The appointment was announced in the B.C. Gazette to-day.

The West Saanich Road, northward from St. James's Road, is being resurfaced and oiled by the provincial Public Works Department. The work commenced this morning. Notices have been posted warning motorists to drive with care over the new surfacing.

To minimize danger of fire at beach resorts and camps in Saanich, the municipal council ordered that during the summer months of the tent by-law. Every user of tent is required to secure a license, which must be displayed on the tent, penalty for non-compliance being $50.

A regular meeting of the lower Vancouver Island United Front Council will be held at 8 o'clock in the View Street, to-night at 8 o'clock. Many matters of interest are on the agenda, principally the election program and the proposed merger of the United Front election committee.

Sunshine Camp for mothers and children will open Tuesday next, when the first party of mothers and children will leave for a two-weeks' holiday. Subscriptions for this work will be received at the offices of the Social Service League, 45 Arcade Building.

Saanich delegates to the Nelson convention of the Union of B. C. Municipalities will be Reeve Crouch, Councillor L. C. Hagan and R. P. Sewell, municipal clerk. Councillor W. R. Woods, appointed two weeks ago, yesterday evening informed the municipal council he would be unable to get away at the end of this month.

A short business meeting of St. Luke's A.Y.P.A. was held to discuss plans for the A.Y.P.A. picnic which will be held July 1 at Whitty's Cove. All members wishing to enter the contest are requested to meet on Tuesday next at a committee will take charge of the various sports events.

The Victoria and District Cornish Association will hold its regular meeting to-morrow in the Macabees Hall, 724 Fort Street, at 8 o'clock. A good program will be provided, including singing slides to be shown by R. T. Williams. All Cornish people are cordially invited to attend. Members are requested to note change of address.

J. M. Graham, secretary of the local Y.M.C.A. for a long term of years prior to 1924, will be the guest of honor at a dinner to be given to-night in the Drummond Street branch of the Y.M.C.A., Montreal. Mr. Graham will receive a testimonial after being introduced with the association for more than forty years.

Dorothy Haggart and Ruth Wilson, members of the Victoria Art Club and Lifesaving Guards, have won the "general's tassel," the highest award given for proficiency tests. Commissioner Henry will make the presentation to the girls at the Victoria Art Club where a special farewell meeting for the visiting officers will be held at 8 o'clock.

Members of the Real Estate Board have undertaken to drive members of the British Columbia party from England around Victoria on Friday afternoon, June 24. Major Cuthbert Holmes is chairman of the committee in charge of cars. Following the drive, Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Pemberton will entertain the visitors at tea at their beautiful home, "Mountainjoy," Poul Bay Road.

Vancouver city police will prosecute nine entrepreneurs in that city for the request of the provincial government. It was learned at the Parliament Buildings to-day. This action, it is thought will act as a deterrent to possible irregular methods of registration by other canvassers. Fresh declarations have been obtained where the former registrations were made irregularly and the list of between 50,000 and 60,000 names already compiled stands substantially correct, it was stated.

The following appointments are announced in the B.C. Gazette. Benjamin Austin Spencer of Allynah to be a justice of the peace; A. R. Brown, to be deputy mining record for the Stikine Mining District with sub-recording office at Boundary in place of W. R. Overend, appointment rescinded. Henry N. Wood and George Davidson, Mend of Ashcroft, to be marriage commissioners in the district of vital statistics and deputy district registrar of vital statistics, respectively, in the place of R. G. Couper, whose appointments have been rescinded.

Approximately 12,000 Victoria motorists have secured their new drivers' licenses. It was stated at the Parliament Buildings to-day. Thirty-five thousand drivers in Vancouver have procured their tickets, as well as 11,000 in New Westminster, and 22,000 scattered throughout the province. Drivers' licenses already issued exceed the number of car licenses by 1,000, and provincial police are inclined to the belief that nearly all drivers have renewed their permits. Motorists are now being stopped and requested to show their new licenses, and those who have failed to produce them have been warned to attend to the matter immediately, according to Inspector G. A. Hood, of the motor-license office.

PRESENT TREES MUST ALL GO

W. H. Warren, Parks Superintendent, Gives Interesting Talk to Real Estate Men

New Types of Trees Will Take Place of Present Ones on Local Boulevards

Victoria's boulevards of the future will boast Japanese plum trees, May or English hawthorn, weeping birch, and native trees such as the arbutus and dogwood, alternated with flowering shrubs, W. H. Warren, city parks superintendent, told members of the Real Estate Board at their luncheon in Spencer's private dining-room to-day. J. C. Bridgeman, president of the board, occupied the chair.

Some of the present trees on the city's boulevards are undesirable, Mr. Warren said. The chestnut and sycamore trees are too large and are continually interfering with the sewerage system. The maples and elms are subject to insect pests. The park officials, he said, were sometimes criticized for the drastic pruning done to the boulevard trees each year, but this was necessary to keep them within bounds. Eventually the present trees would be removed. With the exception of Ottawa, Mr. Warren believes Victoria has the finest boulevards in Canada. "We get dividends from our parks," the speaker said. "They are the happy places and sunny smiles of our children. Health is also found in the parks, which are principally for civic beautification and public recreation." He advised members of the board to some day leave their cars at home and take a walk around the waterfront and through the trails and paths of Beacon Hill. He was sure they would enjoy it and would be able to better enjoy the beauties of nature. It was difficult to estimate the value of parks in dollars and cents, but private property adjacent to park areas was always more valuable.

He asked that citizens be tolerant of the weeds on the boulevards. "That problem cannot be tackled now," he said, as the cost would be too great, and the taxpayers could not stand it. At present it cost each of the boulevard one cent per square foot of the boulevard in front of his house. He was often asked why there were not more flower beds and rose gardens in the parks. This would also be too expensive, as the upkeep would be enormous. The city must, at present, be content with flowering shrubs.

Mr. Warren asked for co-operation in preventing vandalism and petty thefts from the parks. Boys often break things and amateur gardeners help themselves to flowers and shrubs and often ruin the beauty of the beds for the season. Elderly people, particularly women, he said, think they have a divine right to pick flowers.

PLEADS VESSEL NEVER RAMMED

Sentence on Gorry Brothers Influenced By Faulty Procedure, Appeal Court Told

The appeal of Edward and George Gorry against sentences of two years each, and confiscation of the launch, Fisher Lassie, imposed by Judge Fisher last April, is continuing in this afternoon in the British Columbia Court of Appeal. The sitting justices being Chief Justice Macdonald, Mr. Justice Macdonald and Mr. Justice Macdonald.

For the Gorry brothers, J. W. deB. Farris yesterday afternoon argued that the trial judge erred by not admitting evidence to be read to the prisoners before the first charge, of preventing customs officers from doing their duty, was before the court. The second charge, that the brothers attempted to ram the customs vessel Despatcher with their heavy launch Fisher Lassie, had not been proceeded with until after the first charge had been read to the prisoners. The magistrate considered the brothers' testimony false and sentenced him to six months in view of a previous conviction.

Two Youths Face Car Theft Charge

Stanley Thane and Arthur D. Irwin, two youths, were charged separately in the City Police Court this morning with the theft of an automobile belonging to Mrs. D. S. Spencer on May 23. Remands were given until to-morrow morning to give the pair an opportunity to secure counsel.

C. L. Harrison, city prosecutor, explained the boys were charged as accessories to the theft. Eugene Y. Goley and Robert John Whiteman, sentenced yesterday to four years' imprisonment and ten lashes each, pleaded guilty to the charge of theft of the Spencer automobile.

SIX MONTHS ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Joseph Haig was sentenced to six months' hard labor by Magistrate George Jay in City Police Court this morning on a charge of illegally selling a bottle of wine. It was the second time Haig had been convicted on a liquor selling charge.

Before remanding the case for sentence two days ago, the magistrate reviewed the evidence. Testimony by police officers was to the effect that Haig had sold a bottle of loganberry wine to an officer and a man who had accompanied him to Haig's home.

Haig had stated he had loaned the man $1 earlier in the day. The man had a bundle and a bottle of wine as surety for the repayment of the dollar. He Haig had merely given him back his wine for the dollar, the accused had declared.

The magistrate considered Haig's testimony false and sentenced him to six months in view of a previous conviction.

MEN ARRIVE FROM SOOKE

First of Party Released From Relief Camp Interview Committee Here

Men who have been employed in the city relief camp at Sooke Lake arrived in town to-day and congregated about the City Hall awaiting developments.

The case of the men was discussed by the relief committee which met at 11 o'clock this morning.

The City Council on Monday decided to close Sooke Lake camp and the men are now dispersing. About 100 men were employed there making a road around the lake.

It is expected that the men will be absorbed by the provincial government camps.

FUNERAL TO-MORROW

The funeral of Albert Gifford, who passed away Wednesday evening at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Sands Mortuary Chapel. Canon Joshua Hinchliffe will officiate and the remains will be laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

Electricity Theft Charge Adjourned

Trial of A. B. Whiteman, 1968 Oak Bay Avenue, charged with stealing electricity from the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, opened in the City Police Court this morning. Proceedings were adjourned until Monday following the testimony of four witnesses for the prosecution.

P. J. Sinnott appeared for the accused and H. S. Heisterman, A. D. King and R. Matthews for the B.C. Electric Company.

Charles T. Teasdale, chief metre reader for the company, explained application for electric service made by the accused and gave certain readings he had made on the metre installed in the store of Mr. Whitehead. H. L. McE. Duncan, lineman, gave readings he had made on a check metre connected in a transformer through which the line service Mr. Whiteman ran. Ira Francis Smith, metre tester, told of tests made in the two metres, and A. McCoubrey, metre form, gave further evidence regarding the metres, presenting certain technical details attached to them.

STREET LIGHTS ALL DARKENED

Saanich Cuts Out Service As Summer Economy to Save $500

B.C. Electric Offers Reduction in Power Charge If Service Continued

Street lights in urban Saanich have been unused since June 1, the council's order for cessation of the service being due to lack of funds. Yesterday evening the council was informed that the British Columbia Electric Railway Company Limited was prepared to consider reduction of the power charge for street lights from five cents per kilowatt to three cents, the rate charged Oak Bay for similar service.

MINES SHOW SLIGHT DROP

With Lower Prices Mines Operate Within 80 Per Cent of 1930 Levels

Placer Gold Doubles Value; Unemployment Was Relieved By Mining

British Columbia mines last year operated within 80 per cent of the 1930 levels, although prices were much lower in 1931, it was revealed yesterday by Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Mines, in the annual report of his department.

The total value of mining production in 1931 was $34,883,181, a decline of $20,500,000 over prices for the previous year. Placer mining almost doubled in output in the last year, producing 17,176 ounces of gold, worth $291,992, while in the previous year the value was only $152,235 for 8,955 ounces.

COMPARES VALUES
Production in 1931, by value and by weight, with the corresponding figures for 1930 in brackets following, are shown as follows:

By values: Lode gold, $3,018,894 ($3,323,576); placer gold, $291,992 ($152,235); silver, $2,247,514 ($4,307,270); copper, $5,289,363 ($11,738,525); lead, $6,742,282 ($12,535,931); zinc, $5,237,520 ($9,010,093); coal, $7,684,155 ($9,485,650); structural materials, $3,553,300 ($4,092,568); miscellaneous minerals, $818,161 ($796,145). Total $34,883,181 ($55,391,993).

By weights: Lode gold, 145,039 oz. (160,778); placer gold, 17,176 oz. (8,955); silver, 7,524,320 oz. (11,289,171); copper, 63,194,299 lbs. (90,421,545); lead, 248,783,508 lbs. (319,190,759); zinc, 208,071,247 lbs. (250,287,308); coal, 1,707,590 long tons (1,887,130). Structural materials and miscellaneous minerals are grouped only by the value of their products.

Silver, lead, copper, zinc and lode gold decreased considerably during the last year, while fuel oils and coal were only slightly below the previous year's level. The drop in the average gross value per ton for metalliferous ores tells the story. In 1930, a total of 6,803,846 tons were produced, with an average gross value of $8.04 per ton. Last year, production amounted to 5,549,103 tons, with average gross value of $4.06 per ton. Decrease in tonnage was 18.45 per cent, but decrease in value through recession in metal prices was roughly one-third.

Placer gold was substantially increased this year and it is expected that silver prices will start a return to normal levels very soon. It was stated that improvement in general world conditions will be necessary before the base metals respond favorably to any upward trend.

RELIEVED UNEMPLOYMENT

The unemployment situation was helped favorably by the operating companies, Mr. McKenzie stated. The personnel had been maintained to an extent not always justified by conditions in the industry. "Sniping" by pan and rocker had given work to men who otherwise would have been unemployed it was learned.

Structural materials decreased in value by $839,268 from 1930 levels, a fact somewhat at variance with the general impression that construction work slowed nearly to a standstill in 1931. The 1931 output, in fact, equaled the average output yearly over the last five years, with a gross value of $3,553,300 for the year. Substantial output of blameth and greater production of sulphur in sulphuric acid gave the value of miscellaneous minerals and minerals an increase from $796,145 in 1930 to $818,161 last year.

INSURANCE WILL HELP

Will Play Prominent Part in Return of Prosperity, Vancouver Speaker Says

Pointing out that the life insurance business has it in its power, more than any other business, to aid in lifting the world out of the condition into which it has got itself, E. A. Davis, manager of the Dominion Life Insurance Company in Vancouver, gave an interesting talk before members of the Victoria Life Underwriters' Association yesterday in Spencer's dining-room, W. M. Scott, of the Sun Life, president of the association, was in the chair.

Mr. Davis, who is a past president of the Vancouver Underwriters' Association, chose as the subject of his talk, "Capitalizing the Present Condition in Our Business." He said that conditions in the life insurance business were widely different from what they were three years ago and that all insurance representatives must study the changes to be successful. The insurance business, he said, was probably one of the most human-relation businesses in the world, and those talking insurance should have some specific message for their prospects.

"We represent an institution that has distributed wealth to those to whom it belongs for their greatest possible good. It has been done in a worthwhile way. We have stability of exchange in all parts of the world and ours is the only business institution that can say that. We have the opportunities now to sow the seeds that will eventually save the country," the speaker said.

MAN'S VALUE MOST

Mr. Davis said that responsibility for present-day conditions could be placed on some leaders of the past. "The men who have led us into this mess," he said, "have the power, if they have the vision to lead us out again. But they would have to see the value of the man infinitely greater than that of the dollar."

Speaking of business conditions today, which he termed unpardonable, he said the world today was fabulously wealthy. There was something wrong, he said, and those in the insurance business could do a great deal to rectify things. He urged his listeners to know and analyze their problems, to solve the conditions in their own minds and then they would succeed in selling life insurance and in this way start affairs in the right direction. He urged them, when talking to a prospect, to have some opinion of present-day affairs.

Mr. Davis was introduced by Reginald Harris of the Dominion Life. Capt. H. W. N. Moorehouse of the Confederation Life moved the thanks to the speaker.

SEEK VIEWS ON NEW SCHOOL TAX

The Saanich School Board yesterday evening submitted to the Saanich Council a resolution advocating institution in Saanich of the new school tax authorized at the last session of the Legislature in a manner that, in their opinion, the most suitable for conditions in the municipality.

Reeve Crouch secured unanimous support for the following resolution: "That we respectfully ask the school board their opinion how we may put into effect these amendments in a manner suitable for conditions in the municipality."

Chicago Purchasing Gives Backbone to Hesitant Grain Pit

Winnipeg, June 10.—Southern buyers in the market for Canadian wheat gave a lift to hesitant grain prices to-day. Influenced by a steady stream of buying from Chicago, wheat rose from a nervous start to establish fair gains all round.

The close showed upturn of an even cent in all three wheat futures. July

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

(By Logan & Bryan)
Winnipeg, June 10.—Wheat: There was little feature to the local wheat market to-day and with the exception of a little buying by continental houses for seaboard account, on the dip, shortly after the opening all business passing was of local character. Prices were mostly higher throughout, but this was in sympathy with the strength in Chicago, that market advancing 1 1/2, while Winnipeg scored about half this gain. The indications were that the local crowd were going long with Chicago, the leader, based on the bullish United States Government winter wheat report.

From all appearances export business overnight had been very small and seaboard estimates at 400,000 bushels to 500,000 bushels in all positions, hard winters and Manitobas.

The demand for cash wheat was decidedly slow to-day and while offerings were not pressing, spreads on the top grades were unchanged to quarter off. Millers report no improvement in the demand for flour export sales at midday, practically nil, while the domestic demand is quite ordinary.

It was only natural, perhaps, that Chicago should show strength to-day following the government report which indicates that wheat production in the states this year will only be about sufficient for home requirements, but the carryover will be moderately large at the end of this month.

Harvesting has started on a limited scale in Kansas and Oklahoma, but will not be general for one or two weeks.

Country marketings in the west on Thursday were 569,000 vs. 431,000 a year ago.

Winnipeg closed 1 cent higher. Coarse grains were all firm with some good buying of barley, which was understood to be export. There was a little domestic business in oats, which followed the trend of wheat.

Oats closed 1/4 to 1/2 higher; barley, 1/4 to 1/2 higher; flax, unchanged to 1/2 higher; flaxseed, unchanged to 1/2 higher, based on Winnipeg.

"On the job"

Good service is a broad term — it conveys the idea that an organization is functioning smoothly, efficiently and well.

Every member of our staff is "on the job". Services considered favors in the past are now only routine. There is nothing overlooked which may speed up, or improve banking facilities to clients.

We would be glad to have your business.

LONDON LIFE SCORES RECORD

Doubles Its Volume of New Insurance Over Last Year

Business records are not easily made in these days, but the London Life had the unique experience last week of having its volume of new insurance doubled as compared to the corresponding week in 1931.

In commenting upon the interesting facts of the situation, Edward E. Reid, managing director of the company, said: "Every year at this time we have a six week's testing period of efficiency campaign. The first week of this year's campaign resulted in $3,880,000 of new insurance being issued, one and three-quarter millions greater than for the opening week last year. The former best record for the first week of this efficiency contest resulted in $2,742,340, which was in 1930. The new record is therefore most outstanding."

"One very gratifying point is that all sections of the country contributed their fair share of the business, in fact those localities which are commonly regarded as being the hardest hit from the standpoint of general business are among the leaders. Another very interesting fact is that all classes of the people are well represented among the applicants. The industrial branch created an all-time record with 3,443 individual applications for a total of $1,765,000 of insurance in amounts

Cumberland to Have Teacher From London

Cumberland, June 10.—Cumberland public school will have on its staff next year an English teacher, Miss Lillian B. Hyde of Wood Green, London. She will exchange with Miss Ida McFadyen for a year. Communications were read at the regular meeting of the board of school trustees from the Overseas Education League of Winnipeg, and from Miss Ida McFadyen, arranging the details of the exchange.

About 100 boys and a similar number of girls, representing the C.G.I.T. and the Tuxis boys and Trail Rangers of the United Churches of Cumberland, Sandwick and Courtenay, will take part in an athletic meet on the recreation grounds at Cumberland on Saturday. The C.G.I.T. events will commence at 10 a.m. and the boys' events at 1 o'clock. Individual scores as well as group scores will be taken and winners will be awarded badges. The meet includes boys and girls between the ages of twelve and eighteen and is being held under the auspices of the Board of Religious Education of the United Church.

NEW PARTY HAS TARDIEU AS HEAD

Canadian Press
Paris, June 10.—Former Premier Andre Tardieu and thirty of his followers yesterday formed a new party to fight the policies of Premier Edouard Herriot, the Liberal (Radical Socialist) leader.

The organization will be known as the Centre Republican Party. M. Tardieu heretofore has been a left Republican—and was regarded as particularly interested in foreign affairs. The group officially announced itself for "social, commercial and agricultural action."

Among the more important members are Paul Reynaud, Louis Rollin, Mau-

LUMBER DUTY PLAN DISCUSSED

Canadian Press
Vancouver, June 10.—Fixing of a value for duty on all lumber coming into Canada from foreign countries is being sought by the Canadian Lumbermen's Association, according to advice received here by T. H. Wilkinson, secretary of the B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association.

Large quantities of lumber are imported annually from the United States in eastern Canada, particularly the southern pine variety.

British Columbia lumbermen discussed the matter on Tuesday of this week at a general meeting, but took no action on the matter. They will meet again next Tuesday to consider it further.

Under section 46 of the Tariff Act the Minister of National Revenue has authority to place a value for duty on any article imported into Canada and any commodity so valued which is imported at below the fixed price is subject to dumping duty.

The dumping duty would be the difference between the actual invoice price and the value set for duty purposes. It could be made prohibitive.

Ireland to Have National Guard

London, June 10.—A Dublin dispatch to The London Daily Herald to-day said President Eamon de Valera of the Irish Free State was forming a national guard.

Although organized along military lines, it would not be a military body, but an athletic organization, the newspaper said. The members would undergo a brief period of athletic training annually at various centres with military pay.

Several barracks were being converted into gymnasiums for the guard, the dispatch added. It suggested the guard might absorb the "Irish republican army," an organization which was repressed under the regime of former President William T. Cosgrave, but since has been active again.

Duncan

Duncan, June 10.—The W.A. to the Cowichan branch of the Canadian Legion met on Wednesday and appointed Mrs. Waller to take charge of decorations for one day of the sweet pea festival. Arrangements were made for the annual garden party, on July 8, for which Mrs. G. W. Blissett will again lend her house and grounds.
